Dexter council tries to answer questions, who is a subdivider?

DEXTER — Joe Whitaker, water superintendent, warned the City Council Monday night that his one question might lead to many others: When does an individual or firm selling lots become a subdivider?

It was a question neither the council nor City Attorney Paul McGhee could answer.

The question was raised, Whitaker said, because some people in town are selling lots and buildings without sewers.

"A subdivider is required to furnish sewer and water to lots," Whitaker explained, but he said he wondered how many lots had to be sold, or houses built before a person could be classified a subdivider?

McGhee told the council the city does not have separate subdivision ordinances, even though Alderman Jack Smarr felt there was something in the city code pertaining to the matter.

He called for City Clerk Mary Margaret Poyner to get the City Code for him, but he could not find the section he was looking for.

McGhee was instructed to look into the matter and make recommendations to the council in a few weeks.

Whitaker was asked where in town this was taking place. "Different places around town," he replied, specifically citing Montgomery addition along Highway 25.

He said he knows some people who are spending as much for a septic tank as it would cost to put in city sewers and water.

Alderman James T. Williams, a plumber, wondered if septic tanks could even be installed within city limits.

"They can," Whitaker answered, "but they must meet specifications which are nearly impossible to meet."

Even worse, in a few years if a sewer district is formed, the people will be forced to pay for sewers, even though they have already paid for the septic tanks, he said.

"It'll just be a few years when we start having troubles," Alderman Doran Vancil warned.

Mayor Willis Conner, who runs an insurance and realty firm, said, "There's no plan to it whatsoever. They just go back in a field and pick a lot."

He said the Montgomery Addition has never been platted as a subdivision and is inadequately designed as a subdivision.

"It's something that shouldn't be happening," Conner said, recommending that McGhee look into the situation.

In other business, the city set the tax rate at $2.45 per $100

Center gets grant

The Tri-County Counseling Center has received a $15,000 grant from the state department of mental health, according to Ron Steinmetz, center director.

Steinmetz said the money will be used to hire a fulltime clinical psychologist. He says the addition of a psychologist to the center's staff will enable it to begin a testing program which the center is currently unable to do. Steinmetz says the money will also be used in development of outreach programs, which utilize volunteer workers, and a parent effectiveness training program.

The counseling center is a nonprofit organization providing mental health counseling services in Scott, Mississippi and Stoddard counties.

Viking lands on Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Viking 1 spacecraft landed today on a dusty plain of Mars to search for life on the red planet. In a spectacular space achievement, Viking began sending back razor-sharp photos of the planet's surface.

The pictures arrived dramatically, appearing line-by-line on television monitors after traveling 213 million miles at the speed of light. The failure of two earlier Soviet Mars landing crafts had heightened the tension in the project laboratory.

"The details are just incredible," said Dr. Thomas Mutch, head of the lander imaging team.

"It just couldn't be better," he said as the first picture, a portion of the surface directly under one leg of the lander appeared on television monitors at Jet Propulsion Laboratory. It was of the Chryse Planitia, the Gold Plain of Mars — the smoothest place on a planet marked by volcanic peaks and deep valleys and craters.

Later, the unmanned three-legged lander will make life-detection and soil sampling tests. For more than 100 years scientists have thought Mars might harbor some form of life.

Scientists cheered and hugged each other as the 1,300-pound craft radioed that it touched down on Mars at 4:53 a.m. PDT. The signal took 19 minutes to reach earth. For many, the achievement was a childhood dream come true — a Mars landing.

President Ford telephoned his congratulations to the project headquarters, calling the mission a "wonderful and most remarkable success."

He said, "I think it's amazing that in the span of a single lifetime, the exploration of space has grown from the dreams of very, very few individuals to such a massive cooperative reality."

Science fiction writer Ray Bradbury was at JPL for the touchdown, his dreams racing ahead of the Viking mission.

"I know in the next 20 years we'll have a manned landing on Mars — eventually we'll have colonized and taken over the planet," Bradbury said.

The first picture showed an area of soil strewn with what seemed to be chunks of rock of varying sizes. Mutch said it looked as though some of the rocks had tails of dirt formed by the rushing of strong Martian winds across the surface.

Scientists had expected the landing site, a low plain where streams may once have run, would be covered by a blanket of material deposited by the water. Although the pictures showed a rocky surface, the lander apparently avoided any geologic hazards that project officials had feared might imperil the touchdown.

In the corner of the first picture could be seen one of Viking's round metal landing footpads. The rivets on the footpad were visible and the footpad cast an oval shadow in the late afternoon sun as it rested on the soil among the rocks, which Mutch described as "a beautiful collection of boulders."

Chaffee well repaired, now pumping 600 gallons a minute

CHAFFEE — Raymond Rau, water department superintendent, reported to the City council Monday night that the city's deep well No. 1 is now producing a little over 600 gallons of water per minute.

Rau suggested that the council conduct a study on drilling a new well as a backup well.

The council decided to contact Dan Frissell, a soil Conservation Service agent based in Benton, to conduct a survey of the rock and structure of the ground.

Jack Holder of Scott City, who has the trash hauling contract with the city, told the council that the contract will soon expire and that several businesses need new containers, and he wonders if the city is going to renew the contract or start its own hauling service.

Mayor Robert Capshaw said the city would investigate the matter of establishing a city-owned service or staying with a private contractor.

The contract for the trash service expires Sept. 1.

After discussion, the council agreed to check with City Attorney Joe Perry Rye III whether the trash contract could be renewed or have to be renegotiated. Rice, also will be asked to check the possibility of making a new contract for two years with the option of a one-year extension. The present contract was for a three-year period. A bid of $3,238.94, submitted by Hall Signs Inc. of See No. 3 Page 10

$4,450 in Moore fund

The Super M Fund collected another $2,676 Sunday to aid the family of Larry Moore, 3 Kirkwood Drive, who was badly burned July 2 when a gasoline tanker truck he was unloading exploded and burned in the 800 block of Linn Street.

Moore remains in critical condition today, according to a spokesman for St. John's Mercy Hospital in St. Louis.

Bill Partin of Vanduser, chairman of the Super M Fund, said doctors have begun some skin grafting on the right hand. He said Moore's vital signs are still stable.

The $2,676 was collected during an eight hour benefit show Sunday at the Charleston Community Center. The Super M Fund now totals $4,450.

The name of the fund comes from Moore's "handle." He is known among citizens band radio users as Super M.

Partin said the money will be used to help with living expenses for Moore's family during the two years doctors say it will take him to recover from his burns. Moore's insurance will cover the cost of medical treatment.

The benefit show was held from 1 to 9 p.m. in the Charleston Civic Center and was sponsored by the Charleston Tywappity Yakkers and the East Prairie Screaming Eagles CB clubs, with the Sikeston Area CB Club assisting the other two clubs.

Bill Volner and the Thunderbirds, a square dance troupe, was the feature attraction. Other performing groups included the Semo Shrine Club Clowns, The Banjo Picker and Company of Sikeston and Ann Palmer of Bernie brought a group from the Bootheel Jamboree.

Money-raising events included a jail, cakewalk, door prizes, auctions and flea markets. Refreshments were also served.

Partin said he is grateful for the public response to the fund-raising drive.

Rezoning hearing tonight

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 7 p.m. today with the first of three public hearings scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The commission will discuss proposed setback requirements for apartment complexes, new regulations concerning square footage requirements for apartments in areas zoned commercial and changes in notifying property owners of subdivision proposals.

Public hearings will be on three rezoning requests including the rezoning of one lot on Tanner Street east of North Main Street to multiple family, six acres on north Main Street to commercial and two tracts south of Highway 60 to commercial.

Stolen shoes recovered

Police have recovered nearly $300 worth of shoes stolen from a stall at the flea market on West Malone Avenue, following the arrest of two young Sikeston men.

Police said the shoes — 20 pairs of women's shoes valued at $90 and 20 pairs of men's shoes valued at $200 — were recovered after the arrest early Saturday of Larry Gene Grey, 19, of 1602 W. North St., and a 16-year-old boy.

The two were arrested after allegedly being seen by a police officer about 4 a.m. Saturday, when one of them ran across Malone Avenue with a box in his hand.

Grey was charged with burglary and the juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities.

$112 taken from firm

Someone took $112 from a cash drawer at Sikeston Bus Agency, 901 S. Main St., shortly before 9 p.m. Monday and a tape player was stolen from a car early today, according to police.

Police said the theft occurred while the clerk, Paul Northington, 213 Lake St., was outside the station loading a bus.

He told police he saw the door to the waiting room close and ran inside office and discovered the money missing.

Police questioned two men in the waiting room, but made no arrests.

Johnny Jenkins, 135 Sixth St., told police that an eight-track tape player valued at $45 was taken from his car between 1 and 3:30 a.m. today while the car was parked in the National Lock Co. parking lot on Keystone Drive.

Teasdale in Sikeston

Joseph P. Teasdale of Kansas City, a candidate for governor in Missouri's Aug. 3 Democratic primary election, made a stop in Sikeston Monday, addressing over 75 supporters at the Ramada Inn. Teasdale said he would, as governor, sponsor a partnership for progress between the executive branch and the legislature, saying Gov. Christopher S. Bond has lost touch with other members of government. Teasdale's appearance in Sikeston was part of a campaign swing through southeast Missouri. He said he had saved a fund for a television blitz just before the election.

Meet the candidates

County Judge hopefuls express their views

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to inform the voters of Scott County about the views of the various candidates for county offices, The Daily Standard offered each candidate an opportunity to answer general questions about their respective office. The questions were prepared and interviews conducted by Features Editor Thomas Beardslee. The first interviews in this series involve candidates for First District associate judge of the Scott County Court. The district includes Tywappity and Richland townships, which includes all Sikeston precincts, Crowder, Miner, Salcedo, McMullin, Diehlstadt and Lusk. The candidates are: Eldon Ziegenhorn, 1005 N. Kingshighway, the incumbent office holder; John F. Nunnelee, 1001 N. Ranney St.; and Larry Tetley, 134 Autumn Drive.

QUESTION: Why do you consider yourself a better candidate for the office than your opponents?

ZIEGENHORN: One thing that we do and are going to do when these grants come back, we are the only ones in Scott County, we are the only ones in the state of Missouri that got the grant first thing to remodel our jail—we got 90 per cent. We get in there and we get those grants. If they are going to give them out, we get our part of them.

We save the county lots of money also on drainage. They (the federal government) spent nearly $800,000 is what we got in on that program—we are out to get those grants for our people.

Now, I have going on six years of experience, and we've kept the county in mighty good financial shape, with inflation as high as it's been, we still are able to pay our bills. I'm about as tight with the county's money as I am with my own, and we all know that's pretty good. And we haven't hurt anybody, and we've done things for them.

NUNNELEE: I consider both my opponents to be men of excellent character and good candidates for the office, but that I have had much experience through personal contact and business dealings in this area where I have lived for many years.

TETLEY: I feel I am a qualified candidate due to my background of 15 years in the business field as a sales representative for R.J. Reynolds, Malone & Hyde, Inc., and Best Foods Co., and now, operating my own wholesale and distributing business.

QUESTION: What qualifications do you bring to the office?

ZIEGENHORN: I know the value of property, and I know we're working with inflated property right now—inflation—and I've been able to help figure out a way that we can get our evaluation up to suit the State Tax Commission and still not raise it 11 per cent like they asked for.

We've saved the taxpayers money; in fact, most of their taxes were lower last year than they were. So I think that qualifies me. I do know more about the real estate business than most of them; I mean the price of property. I've had lots of years of experience in that.

NUNNELEE: By having been in business for more than 40 years, conducting myself in a professional manner in all contacts with my fellow man.

TETLEY: Answered in preceding question.

QUESTION: Do you feel that the city of Cape Girardeau has a legitimate claim in its annexation proposal for areas in northern Scott County?

ZIEGENHORN: No they don't have a right to do that. What good would we get out of that?

Other than they may build some factories over there, but still they can come without it. They'd just be paying city tax. I don't want Cape Girardeau in north Scott County.

I think that there are some things in the wind that may come into north Scott County anyway, and I don't know this, but I believe that there are some things in the making. They're big enough they couldn't put a sewer across the diversion channel to do any good or water either. I think it will probably come anyhow without being in the city limits of Cape.

I don't know what advantage that would be. They usually have to build their own sewer and water for big companies; they'd have to anyhow, so I can't feel that it would be an advantage.

NUNNELEE: After much study and inquiry, only then could this question be answered intelligently.

TETLEY: I would like to point out to the voters of Scott County that I am opposed to letting Cape Girardeau claim annexation of the land in northern Scott County. Why? Because we have many large businesses that we receive tax revenue from for our county.

QUESTION: Since the County Court has the power to accept or reject annexation of private property proposals from Scott County cities and towns, what criteria would you use in voting on these measures?

ZIEGENHORN: If it is to help them in school districts, I would be for it anytime. We don't have much right to do that. The cities can do it, and we will accept it if they have the people behind it and really need it. I wouldn't say we'd pull back from them taking in annexation to help the cities grow.

If all the property owners are opposed to it—but they won't be because the city has already

The only difference in Cape is we feel they were trying to cram it down Scott County's throat and didn't need to. And the only difference if it was in our county and Scott County wanted to annex some more or any other town, why then I'd be for it. But I don't want Cape Girardeau coming in here and taking over because I just don't feel it is right.

It might help in the long run, but I don't think so. I think they will come in anyhow around that airport. That's the place they ought to go, and the port authority will make that land high. And there is no use in letting the city have a city tax on it. They won't get any benefit, they can't take care of the county they've got.

NUNNELEE: What the general public feels would be for the good of all concerned, either by voting for or against or the use of petitions for or against. A complete study to be made before either method is recommended.

TETLEY: I feel the County Court does not have this power. I believe the voters of the county should be able to voice their vote on this.

QUESTION: What is your opinion of county planning and zoning?

ZIEGENHORN: Well, we voted for that, and the planning part is not bad, but we've got to take it easy until we get into the zoning. You just can't go planning and zoning all at once, because that would be expensive and it would be a mess to try and zone things.

Now, that planning and zoning shouldn't scare people. The planning part is alright at this time, but I would leave the zoning off for a while. That QUESTION: What qualifications do you bring to the office?

ZIEGENHORN: I know the value of property, and I know we're working with inflated property right now—inflation—and I've been able to

We've saved the taxpayers money; in fact, most of their taxes were lower last year than they were. So I think that qualifies me. I do know more about the real estate business than most of them; I mean the price of property. I've had lots of years of experience in that.

NUNNELEE: By having been in business for more than 40 years, conducting myself in a professional manner in all contacts with my fellow man.

TETLEY: Answered in preceding question.

QUESTION: Do you feel that the city of Cape Girardeau has a legitimate claim in its annexation proposal for areas in northern Scott County?

ZIEGENHORN: No they don't have a right to do that. What good would we get out of that?

Other than they may build some factories over there, but still they can come without it. They'd just be paying city tax. I don't want Cape Girardeau in north Scott County.

I think that there are some things in the wind that may come into north Scott County anyway, and I don't know this, but I believe that there are some things in the making.

They're big enough they couldn't put a sewer across the diversion channel to do any good or water either. I think it will probably come anyhow without being in the city limits of Cape.

I don't know what advantage that would be. They usually have to build their own sewer and water for big companies; they'd have to anyhow, so I can't feel that it would be an advantage.

NUNNELEE: After much study and inquiry, only then could this question be answered intelligently.

TETLEY: I would like to point out to the voters of Scott County that I am opposed to letting Cape Girardeau claim annexation of the land in northern Scott County. Why? Because we have many large businesses that we receive tax revenue from for our county.

QUESTION: Since the County Court has the power to accept or reject annexation of private property proposals from Scott County cities and towns, what criteria would you use in voting on these measures?

ZIEGENHORN: If it is to help them in school districts, I would be for it anytime. We don't have much right to do that. The cities can do it, and we will accept it if they have the people behind it and really need it. I wouldn't say we'd pull back from them taking in annexation to help the cities grow.

If all the property owners are opposed to it—but they won't be because the city has already

The only difference in Cape is we feel they were trying to cram it down Scott County's throat and didn't need to. And the only difference if it was in our county and Scott County wanted to annex some more or any other town, why then I'd be for it. But I don't want Cape Girardeau coming in here and taking over because I just don't feel it is right.

It might help in the long run, but I don't think so. I think they will come in anyhow around that airport. That's the place they ought to go, and the port authority will make that land high. And there is no use in letting the city have a city tax on it. They won't take care of the county they've got.

NUNNELEE: What the general public feels would be for the good of all concerned, either by voting for or against the use of petitions for or against. A complete study to be made before either method is recommended.

TETLEY: I feel the County Court does not have this power. I believe the voters of the county should be able to voice their vote on this.

QUESTION: What is your opinion of county planning and zoning?

ZIEGENHORN: Well, we voted for that, and the planning part is not bad, but we've got to take it easy until we get into the zoning. You just can't go planning and zoning all at once, because that would be expensive and it would be a mess to try and zone things.

Now, that planning and zoning shouldn't scare people. The planning part is alright at this time, but I would leave the zoning off for a while. That

CANADA AND THE OLYMPICS

The shameful demeanor of the Trudeau government in bowing before the arrogance of the Red dictatorship of mainland China must be a humiliating experience for the Canadian people.

And in so doing, Under-Secretary for External Affairs Andre Bissonette has broken his word, as well as the agreement of the Canadian government itself, to abide by the rules of the International Olympic Committee which has long recognized the legitimate claim of the people of free China to be known as "The Republic of China." After all, this nomenclature was freely chosen by them, while the unfortunate people in occupied China had no choice in the selection of the name of "The People's Republic of China," which was forced upon them by the Peking dictatorship. For years, the free people of the Republic of China have played an honorable role in the International Olympics. There was no logical, rational, or moral basis for Canada's action in barring the free Chinese from Canadian soil. Only one reason remains: it was not to the liking of the arrogant and hateful Communist dictatorship.

David Israel, veteran sports columnist with the Washington (DC) STAR branded the Canadian government conduct as "cowardly" and "deceitful."

"Canada never could have hoped to make any money on the Olympics," he wrote; "it could only have hoped to establish some prestige for itself in the world. Now that is gone, too. For it matters not whether a compromise is reached. What matters is that by its stunning stupidity, miscalculation and unconscionable petulance, Canada has taken the joy out of the games and alienated a world that desperately wanted to discover some joy this summer."

"The Olympics used to be something for people to anticipate with optimism. Now they are irrevocably overrun by politics and paranoia. It is enough to make you sick."

Indeed it is. The Olympics have not seen such ill-advised national politicking since the advent of Hitler. The stench of Nazism permeated the Olympics of 1936; and now the stench of Communism pervades the Summer Olympics in Canada. It is indeed enough to make one sick.

FORD, REAGAN, AND SOUTHERN AFRICA

The best thing one can say about President Ford's attempt to make political capital out of Ronald Reagan's remarks on the possible employment of troops in Rhodesia is that it simply did not work. Not in California, at least, where Mr. Ford went down to a crushing 66-34 per cent defeat. The voters were evidently not impressed with the charge that Reagan is an irresponsible war-monger.

We wish the whole thing could be left at that — just the normal give and take of two politicians in a close struggle for very high stakes. But in seeking to discredit Reagan, Mr. Ford unfortunately made the kind of categorical statement that may come back to haunt him. He vowed that he would not "under any circumstances commit U. S. military personnel to Rhodesia or southern Africa."

Not under any circumstances? He should never have gone that far. We wonder if there was not a quivering of antennae in Moscow and Havana. His words recall the fateful pronouncement of then Secretary of State Dean Acheson when, early in 1950, he failed to include South Korea within the U.S. defense perimeter in the Pacific. Many historians blame the Korean War on that omission.

Let anyone forget, there is still a Cuban military force in southern Africa — in Angola — and it is not hurrying to withdraw, whatever Castro's promises. Secretary Kissinger has been trying to warn off the communists against any further adventures there. The U.S. "will not tolerate" any more Angolas, he has said.

Mr. Ford's statement can only undermine this warning. The communists may take it as simple political rhetoric, but then again they may take the President at his word and conclude that they have a green light for further mischief.

On the international chessboard, all options must be kept open because conditions and circumstances are subject to constant change. By appearing to foreclose the option of force in southern Africa, no matter what the circumstances, Mr. Ford committed a serious error. Far more so than anything said by Mr. Reagan.

COURTS WILL RULE ON ACADEMIC FREEDOM. When the school bell rings in the new year at Antioch College this fall, it will mark the beginning of the end of academic freedom at the innovative liberal arts college.

Long recognized as one of the most progressive and independent-minded schools in the country, Antioch has entered into a unique agreement with the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations which requires members of the law school faculty to support one of the AFL-CIO's local unions as a condition of employment.

Any law school faculty member who refuse to join or pay compulsory "agency shop" fees to Local 3438, American Federation of Teachers, will face dismissal.

Thus, Antioch, a bastion of academic "liberalism" joins the company of a dozen or so other colleges and universities (mostly public institutions) with repressive policies requiring professors to be trade unionists first and free-thinking individuals second.

On other campuses, the imposition of compulsory unionism has almost always met with stiff resistance from faculty members who feel their dedication to intellectual excellence is more important than their fealty to an unwanted union. It will be interesting to see if there are any like-minded professors at the Antioch School of Law.

In Minnesota, for example, a group of teachers in the state's community college system are so opposed to compulsory unionism, and so convinced that academic freedom cannot coexist when unionism is forced upon them, that they are challenging the very bedrock of union privilege—the granting of monopoly bargaining status to certified unions. A federal appeals court has agreed with the teachers that forcing them to accept the representation of an unwanted union raises a "substantial federal constitutional question," and has ordered a three judge court to hear the case. Undoubtedly, the question will land in the lap of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Already in the Supreme Court's hands is a similar case involving 600 Detroit public school teachers who feel that city officials and officials of the local union are violating their constitutional rights by forcing them to pay money to the union in order to work for their own government. This case is on the high court's fall calendar.

The decision now rests with the courts. Lawyers for the teachers and lawyers for the union bosses are readying their briefs. One way or another, the Supreme Court will decide whether academic freedom exists in America, or is so much metaphysical clap-trap.

"SPEEDULATOR" IS NOT A DIRTY WORD. Too often, we tend to condemn speculators and infer that they are criminals, especially if they are in some other area, or control a large quantity of any product.

But that isn't so. Most of us are or have been speculators at some time in our lives. We buy groceries and other products when we fear there'll be a shortage or when we think the price is going up, we store our grain in the expectation of it going up in price, we buy land, houses, antiques and many other things because they are scarce and expect a price hike.

STATISM STIFLES. The United States is edging closer to government domination and control of its prescription drug industry. Therefore, it is urgent that Americans look closely at the progress and performance of state run prescription drug enterprises in other parts of the world. In Russia, for example, the state-controlled prescription drug industry leaves much to be desired.

A high Soviet health official has commented that the government-controlled structure of the Soviet Union has not been effective in providing the population with already developed pharmaceutical products and in mass producing newly discovered items. The official views coincide with an American study which finds that the centrally-planned Russian system lacks overall coordination and cannot accurately measure demand and maintain quality controls. In brief, the Soviet pharmaceutical industry, as does all other state industry in Russia, suffers by comparison with competitive enterprise in the United States.

The goal of the Soviet Union is the same as the goal that has now become governmental policy in this country—low-cost drugs. The result in the USSR has been a poor distribution system and erratic supply. The problems these handicaps have posed for Soviet physicians is exemplified in a Soviet Health Ministry handbook of drugs recommended for use in the Soviet Union. The book notes that, "some physicians tend to prescribe drugs without considering whether they would be available in pharmacies."

Millions of people in the U.S. are alive today because of the work of the research-oriented, competitive, private enterprise prescription drug industry in our country. The investigative and regulatory mania that has harassed leading drug firms for so many years reflects the same kind of obsession with statism that has retarded pharmaceutical technology in Russia.

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS. Americans enjoy many constitutionally-guaranteed rights, and one of the most important is freedom of the press. In such things, it is good to listen to a man who knows of what he speaks and learn from his experience. The exiled Russian author, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, has written: "Wee to that nation whose literature is disturbed by the intervention of power. Because that is not just a violation against 'freedom of print,' it is the closing down of the heart of the nation, a slashing to pieces of its memory."

In thousands of independent newspapers, periodicals and the electronic media, the heart of America beats strongly, and its memory is intact. If we kick about America's faults, let us also remember its freedoms and that freedom of the press is one of the most important.

LOWERING HEALTH COSTS. In these days of inflation, it is encouraging that in the vital area of health care some major factors are working to eliminate or minimize price increases. Health care costs would be vastly higher than they are today were it not for the revolutionary new medicines that have been discovered, developed, exhaustively tested and finally mass produced by the U.S. pharmaceutical industry.

These products have been instrumental in 'virtually eliminating or revolutionizing the care available for many of mankind's most dread diseases and ailments, including tuberculosis, poliomyelitis, diphtheria, measles, mumps, syphilis, high blood pressure and mental illness. Modern medicines have sharply cut the length of time of the average hospital stay and reduced the price of being ill. Also, lifesaving pharmaceutical products are among the few items today whose prices go down as well as up. One of the nation's major research-based pharmaceutical companies, for example, has announced the third price reduction for one of its important antibiotic products in less than three years. The company also reluctantly announced that it would, for the first time in 28 years, have to increase by 10 percent the prices of its standard insulin products. Inflated production costs made the price boost inevitable. The price of animal pancreas glands, from which insulin is made, has soared 129 percent, and there has been a 50 percent rise in employee wages since 1968—to name just two factors. Insulin prices today are about 90 percent less than they were in 1923, when the product was introduced.

Good health is the most important thing a person can have. The U.S. pharmaceutical industry, through unremitting effort and dedication there has been a 50 percent rise in employee wages since 1968—to name just two factors. Insulin prices today are about 90 percent less than they were in 1923, when the product was introduced.

Good health is the most important thing a person can have. The U.S. pharmaceutical industry, through unremitting effort and dedication of purpose, has had much to do with reducing the cost of your good health.

BUILDERS HIT AT THE ART SHOW. A news story describes an event that took place in suburban Moscow which is almost beyond the range of credibility for the average person in the United States who has not experienced the unrestrained power of government authority. A group of artists, some of international reputation, had organized what was described as the first Autumn outdoor art show in the Soviet Union. The event was being held in a vacant lot and a crowd of several hundred—including artists, Western diplomats, press correspondents and neighborhood residents were gathered to view the displayed works. Suddenly bulldozers, dump trucks and water-spraying trucks appeared on the scene and, like a charging panzer division, scattered the crowd and destroyed or carted off the paintings. A roving band of thugs was detailed to intimidate and expel any people who lingered on the scene. A mysterious trench-coated individual running the coordinated attack said the art exhibit was being dispersed because workers had volunteered to transform the vacant lot into "park of culture."

The fact is, Soviet authorities became upset with the art exhibit because the work being shown did not meet the official guidelines of socialist realism. The Czar's cavalry used to gallop through crowds of non-conformists with sabers flashing. Now, in the worker's paradise, they use bulldozers when citizens displease government authorities.

TAX REVOLT BREWING? According to Inflation Survival Letter (ISL), there is a tax revolt brewing in this nation. More accurately, there are several tax revolts. All of them are the products of an increasingly insensitive, rapacious, deficit-ridden, bureaucratic political order. The federal government, not to mention the state and local governments, has made multi-trillion dollar commitments, and now that the bills are coming due, the envious, guilt-ridden public which had actively voted for those political giveaways is saying "no deal." The voters are angry, griping people who will vote against bond issues, tax overrides, and other direct tax levies as they have never voted before in our generation. Bond issues go down like the Titanic. But this is only one part of the tax revolt; the others are less concerned with voting and more concerned with escaping the burdens of taxation.

There are many ways to avoid taxes. The most sophisticated ways are those taken by the very rich: foundations, family trusts, and other legalized forms of avoidance (used by the Rockefellers, Kennedys, etc.).

Conventional tax dodges take advantage of "loopholes" in the tax law to minimize payments. ISL says the following three methods (setting up a church, claiming protection of the Fifth Amendment, and denying the legality of the nation's money) rest upon Constitutional grounds—completely disregarding tax law. The fourth method is simplest of all—simply refusing to pay.

Some tax resisters claim that there are 25 million tax rebels, but we find this claim preposterous. There are no doubt 25 million tax fudgers, but 25 million tax rebels would literally cause the system to collapse. You don't get 25 million tax rebels overnight, all willing to forfeit all they own for the sake of principle. For that reason, if you become a tax rebel, you're on your own.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Reagan May Have a Tax Dodge

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — President Ford's campaign aides are trying to make a case of tax avoidance against Ronald Reagan. The President's men, searching for material to embarrass Reagan, have asked a law firm to analyze the information he has released about his finances.

The tax lawyers concluded, according to a confidential campaign memorandum, that he must be using his children to escape paying full taxes.

The confidential analysis indicates that Reagan's taxable income is "extraordinarily low for a man with his financial background and assets." The lawyers, therefore, believe that Reagan "most likely has a number of irrevocable trusts for his children. In that way, income derived from such trusts would not be reported by Mr. Reagan but would be reported by his children on their tax returns."

A spokesman for Reagan categorically denied that the former California governor has established irrevocable trusts for his children. We called this to the attention of the Ford aides, who were upset that we had obtained their confidential memo. They acknowledged that they had no "hard evidence" to prove their case against Reagan. But if Reagan isn't hiding income in irrevocable trusts, they said, he must be hiding it somewhere else.

Reagan has only himself to blame for the questions that have been raised about his tax returns. Several months ago, we asked all the major presidential candidates for their income tax returns for the past five years. To avoid future Washington scandals, we contended, the public has the right to know whether presidential aspirants have a clean financial record.

Reagan was the only candidate who refused to open up his tax returns. It would violate his privacy, he said.

A month after our stories appeared, Reagan yielded under the pressure and released some general information about the taxes he had paid from 1970 through 1975. But he combined all his federal, state, property and sales taxes and revealed only the lump sum.

It was impossible to ferret out how much federal income tax Reagan had paid each year. Earlier, a story had leaked out that Reagan paid no state income taxes in 1970, even though his income for the year was $73,000.

"The tax lawyers have noted," states the confidential memo, "that if their understanding of Mr. Reagan's 1970 tax returns is correct, that is, no state taxes paid that year, they believe that ... he most likely paid no federal taxes because the same tax base is used" to calculate both state and federal taxes.

A spokesman insisted that Reagan had paid "several hundred dollars" in federal taxes in 1970 but refused to specify the exact amount.

Terrorist Ties: Israel has claimed that Uganda's madcap President Idi Amin enthusiastically cooperated with the pro-Palestinian terrorists who hijacked a French airliner and flew the hostages to his country.

Israeli commandos made a daring, 2,500-mile stab into the jungle, landed at Uganda's Entebbe airport and freed the hostages. The raid has stirred up an international controversy, which culminated in a full-scale United Nations debate.

The irrepressible Idi Amin, meanwhile, has issued plaintive statements, wailing that he had tried to save the hostages and that the Israelis had repaid his kindness by shooting up his soldiers. The available information, according to our intelligence sources, confirms the Israeli account. Here's what our sources have been able to establish:

— The hijackers planned from the start to land in Uganda. They told the hostages their destination, and they took on enough fuel during a stopover in Libya to reach the Uganda airport.

— When the hijacked plane landed on Entebbe, a German terrorist was heard by witnesses to say: "Now it is okay. I can see Ugandan soldiers are here."

— In the airport lounge, Ugandan waiters already had food prepared for the hostages. One prisoner asked how so many meals could be prepared so fast. The head waiter laughed and said: "We knew well in advance you were coming."

— Amin personally embraced the terrorists, calling them "My brothers." He loudly proclaimed that he was their friend and that he would help liberate all the Palestinian prisoners in Israel.

Dangerous Column: The Food and Drug Administration has accused columnist James Kilpatrick of writing a dangerous column about the apricot-pit-derived drug Laetrile, which has been offered as a cancer cure.

Kilpatrick conceded that the drug is probably "worthless" but defended the cancer victims' right to use it, contending it is "harmless." The FDA, in a private letter to Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., warned that Laetrile is far from "harmless" but, on the contrary, could cause death.

"Mr. Kilpatrick's false claim that Laetrile is harmless cannot be dismissed or interfere with early diagnosis and swift treatment."

Footnote: Kilpatrick told us the FDA is "wrought up. This is purely a matter of scientific disagreements on the harmlessness."

THE ATLANTA CONNECTION

WASHINGTON—What we're talking about when we elect a President is power. The power starts at the top and seeps down into every part of the country. For people who deal in power and make their living off of it, it's very important to know—or at least to pretend to know—the President of the United States, or the Vice President, or anyone faintly connected with them.

There is no certainty at all that Jimmy Carter will be elected President of the United States. But if he is, these are a few things you could say to impress your friends and business acquaintances.

"Y'all know Rosalynn Carter, Jimmy's wife? Well, a brother dated her sister."

"Li'l Amy Carter and my daughter used to sell lemonade together."

"We just bought a summer home in Plains, Ga."

"Come over the house for dinner. Billy Carter, Jimmy's brother, left some catfish in the deep freeze for us this morning."

"We just joined the First Baptist Church in Washington. The Episcopal Church wasn't doing anything for us."

"My mother and Jimmy Carter's Aunt Cissy have the same hairdresser."

"Fritz Mondale's son William gave my son a black eye yesterday."

"We decided to move our company headquarters to Atlanta. The South is where it's happening."

"Can I call you back? I've got Jimmy's mother, Miss Lillian, on hold."

"My law partner used to do Fritz Mondale's brother's tax work."

"So I had this bad back and I went to 20 doctors and none of them could do a thing for me. Then I heard about Jimmy's sister, Ruth. So I said, 'What the heck, I have nothing to lose.' Now I know you're not going to believe this but I had three sessions and my back was cured. It's amazing what faith can do for a bad back."

"Jimmy Carter has never lied to me."

"Have some peanuts, but I can't tell you who gave them to me."

"Joan Mondale went to school with my wife."

"I can never get the Carter kids' names straight. When they come in the house for milk they all look alike."

"I'll never forgive Gen. Sherman for what he did to Atlanta, even if Jimmy does."

"Eleanor Mondale used to be in my daughter's car pool."

"The reason I didn't take a job with his administration is I told the President I could be of much more value to him by advising him as a private citizen."

"Three guesses who came to my Bible class last Sunday?"

"When Jimmy was governor of Georgia, he pardoned my brother."

"Carter has never forgiven me for turning down a job in his administration."

"I'll say this for Jimmy. When we played football together in the Navy, he always wore a helmet."

Secretary Kissinger has been trying to warn off the communists against any further adventures there. The U.S. "will not tolerate" any more Angolas, he has said.

Mr. Ford's statement can only undermine this warning. The communists may take it as simple political rhetoric, but then again they may take the President at his word and conclude that they have a green light for further mischief.

On the international chessboard, all options must be kept open because conditions and circumstances are subject to constant change. By appearing to foreclose the option of force in southern Africa, no matter what the circumstances, Mr. Ford committed a serious error. Far more so than anything said by Mr. Reagan.

COURTS WILL RULE ON ACADEMIC FREEDOM

When the school bell rings in the new year at Antioch College this fall, it will mark the beginning of the end of academic freedom at the innovative liberal arts college.

Long recognized as one of the most progressive and independent-minded schools in the country, Antioch has entered into a unique agreement with the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations which requires members of the law school faculty to support one of the AFL-CIO's local unions as a condition of employment.

Any law school faculty member who refuse to join or pay compulsory "agency shop" fees to Local 3438, American Federation of Teachers, will face dismissal.

Thus, Antioch, a bastion of academic "liberalism" joins the company of a dozen or so other colleges and universities (mostly public institutions) with repressive policies requiring professors to be trade unionists first and free-thinking individuals second.

On other campuses, the imposition of compulsory unionism has almost always met with stiff resistance from faculty members who feel their dedication to intellectual excellence is more important than their fealty to an unwanted union. It will be interesting to see if there are any like-minded professors at the Antioch School of Law.

In Minnesota, for example, a group of teachers in the state's community college system are so opposed to compulsory unionism, and so convinced that academic freedom cannot coexist with unionism is forced upon them, that they are challenging the very bedrock of union privilege—the granting of monopoly bargaining status to certified unions. A federal appeals court has agreed with the teachers that forcing them to accept the representation of an unwanted union raises a "substantial federal constitutional question," and has ordered a three judge court to hear the case. Undoubtedly, the question will land in the lap of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Already in the Supreme Court's hands is a similar case involving 600 Detroit public school teachers who feel that city officials and officials of the local union are violating their constitutional rights by forcing them to pay money to the union in order to work for their own government. This case is on the high court's fall calendar.

The decision now rests with the courts. Lawyers for the teachers and lawyers for the union bosses are reading their briefs. One way or another, the Supreme Court will decide whether academic freedom exists in America, or is so much metaphysical claptrap.

"SPELATOR" IS NOT A DIRTY WORD Too often, we tend to condemn speculators and infer that they are criminals, especially if they are in some other area, or control a large quantity of any product.

But that isn't so. Most of us are or have been speculators at some time in our lives. We buy groceries and other products when we fear there'll be a shortage or when we think the price is going up, we store our grain in the expectation of it going up in price, we buy land, houses, antiques and many other things because they are scarce and expect a price hike.

There are probably some criminals among the big speculators, but by far the majority of us who are speculators, even if in a small way, are not criminals.

STATISM STIFLES

The United States is edging closer to government domination and control of its prescription drug industry. Therefore, it is urgent that Americans look closely at the progress and performance of state run prescription drug enterprises in other parts of the world. In Russia, for example, the state-controlled prescription drug industry leaves much to be desired.

A high Soviet health official has commented that the government-controlled structure of the Soviet Union has not been effective in providing the population with already developed pharmaceutical products and in mass producing newly discovered items. The official views coincide with an American study which finds that the centrally-planned Russian system lacks overall coordination and cannot accurately measure demand and maintain quality controls. In brief, the Soviet pharmaceutical industry, as does all other state industry in Russia, suffers by comparison with competitive enterprise in the United States.

The goal of the Soviet Union is the same as the goal that has now become governmental policy in this country—low-cost drugs. The result in the USSR has been a poor distribution system and erratic supply. The problems these handicaps have posed for Soviet physicians is exemplified in a Soviet Health Ministry handbook of drugs recommended for use in the Soviet Union. The book notes that, "some physicians tend to prescribe drugs without considering whether they would be available in pharmacies."

Millions of people in the U.S. are alive today because of the work of the research-oriented, competitive, private enterprise prescription drug industry in our country. The investigative and regulatory mania that has harassed leading drug firms for so many years reflects the same kind of obsession with statism that has retarded pharmaceutical technology in Russia.

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

Americans enjoy many constitutionally-guaranteed rights, and one of the most important is freedom of the press. In such things, it is good to listen to a man who knows of what he speaks and learn from his experience. The exiled Russian author, Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn, has written: "We to that nation whose literature is disturbed by the intervention of power. Because that is not just a violation against 'freedom of print,' it is the closing down of the heart of the nation, a slashing to pieces of its memory."

In thousands of independent newspapers, periodicals and the electronic media, the heart of America beats strongly, and its memory is intact. If we kick about America's faults, let us also remember its freedoms and that freedom of the press is one of the most important.

LOWERING HEALTH COSTS In these days of inflation, it is encouraging that in the vital area of health care some major factors are working to eliminate or minimize price increases. Health care costs would be vastly higher than they are today were it not for the revolutionary new medicines that have been discovered, developed, exhaustively tested and finally mass produced by the U.S. pharmaceutical industry.

These products have been instrumental in virtually eliminating or revolutionizing the care available for many of mankind's most dread diseases and ailments, including tuberculosis, poliomyelitis, diphtheria, measles, mumps, syphilis, high blood pressure and mental illness. Modern medicines have sharply cut the length of time of the average hospital stay and reduced the price of being ill. Also, lifesaving pharmaceutical products are among the few items today whose prices go down as well as up. One of the nation's major research-based pharmaceutical companies, for example, has announced the third price reduction for one of its important antibiotic products in less than three years. The company also reluctantly announced that it would, for the first time in 28 years, have to increase by 10 percent the prices of its standard Insulin products. Inflated production costs made the price boost inevitable. The price of animal pancreas glands, from which Insulin is made, has soared 129 percent, and there has been a 50 percent rise in employee wages since 1968—to name just two factors. Insulin prices today are about 90 percent less than they were in 1923, when the product was introduced.

Good health is the most important thing a person can have. The U.S. pharmaceutical industry, through unremitting effort and dedication there has been a 50 percent rise in employee wages since 1968—to name just two factors. Insulin prices today are about 90 percent less than they were in 1923, when the product was introduced.

Good health is the most important thing a person can have. The U.S. pharmaceutical industry, through unremitting effort and dedication of purpose, has had much to do with reducing the cost of your good health.

BULLDOZERS HIT AT THE ART SHOW

A news story describes an event that took place in suburban Moscow which is almost beyond the range of credibility for the average person in the United States who has not experienced the unrestrained power of government authority. A group of artists, some of international reputation, had organized what was described as the first Autumn outdoor art show in the Soviet Union. The event was being held in a vacant lot and a crowd of several hundred—including artists, Western diplomats, press correspondents and neighborhood residents were gathered to view the displayed works. Suddenly bulldozers, dump trucks and water-spraying trucks appeared on the scene and, like a charging panzer division, scattered the crowd and destroyed or carted off the paintings. A roving band of thugs was detailed to intimidate and expel any people who lingered on the scene. A mysterious trench-coated individual running the coordinated attack said the art exhibit was being dispersed because workers had volunteered to transform the vacant lot into "park of culture."

The fact is, Soviet authorities became upset with the art exhibit because the work being shown did not meet the official guidelines of socialist realism. The Czar's cavalry used to gallop through crowds of non-conformists with sabers flashing. Now, in the worker's paradise, they use bulldozers when citizens displease government authorities.

TAX REVOLT BREWING?

According to Inflation Survival Letter (ISL), there is a tax revolt brewing in this nation. More accurately, there are several tax revolts. All of them are the products of an increasingly insensitive, rapacious, deficit-ridden, bureaucratic political order. The federal government, not to mention the state and local governments, has made multi-trillion dollar commitments, and now that the bills are coming due, the envious, guilt-ridden public which had actively voted for those political giveaways is saying "no deal." The voters are angry, griping people who will vote against bond issues, tax overrides, and other direct tax levies as they have never voted before in our generation. Bond issues go down like the Titanic. But this is only one part of the tax revolt; the others are less concerned with voting and more concerned with escaping the burdens of taxation.

There are many ways to avoid taxes. The most sophisticated ways are those taken by the very rich: foundations, family trusts, and other legalized forms of avoidance (used by the Rockefellers, Kennedys, etc.).

Conventional tax dodges take advantage of "loopholes" in the tax law to minimize payments. ISL says the following three methods (setting up a church, claiming protection of the Fifth Amendment, and denying the legality of the nation's money) rest upon Constitutional grounds—completely disregarding tax law. The fourth method is simplest of all—simply refusing to pay.

Some tax resisters claim that there are 25 million tax rebels, but we find this claim preposterous. There are no doubt 25 million tax fudgers, but 25 million tax rebels would literally cause the system to collapse. You don't get 25 million tax rebels overnight, all willing to forfeit all they own for the sake of principle. For that reason, if you become a tax rebel, you're on your own.

THE ATLANTA CONNECTION

WASHINGTON—What we're talking about when we elect a President is power. The power starts at the top and seeps down into every part of the country. For people who deal in power and make their living off of it, it's very important to know—or at least to pretend to know—the President of the United States, or the Vice President, or anyone faintly connected with them.

There is no certainty at all that Jimmy Carter will be elected President of the United States. But if he is, these are a few things you could say to impress your friends and business acquaintances.

"Y'all know Rosalynn Carter, Jimmy's wife? Well, ma brother dated her sister."

"Li'l Amy Carter and my daughter used to sell lemonade together."

"We just bought a summer home in Plains, Ga."

"Come over the house for dinner. Billy Carter, Jimmy's brother, left some catfish in the deep freeze for us this morning."

"We just joined the First Baptist Church in Washington. The Episcopal Church wasn't doing anything for us."

"My mother and Jimmy Carter's Aunt Cissy have the same hairdresser."

"Fritz Mondale's son William gave my son a black eye yesterday."

"We decided to move our company headquarters to Atlanta. The South is where it's happening."

"Can I call you back? I've got Jimmy's mother, Miss Lillian, on hold."

"My law partner used to do Fritz Mondale's brother's tax work."

"So I had this bad back and I went to 20 doctors and none of them could do a thing for me. Then I heard about Jimmy's sister, Ruth. So I said, 'What the heck, I have nothing to lose.' Now I know you're not going to believe this but I had three sessions and my back was cured. It's amazing what faith can do for a bad back."

"Jimmy Carter has never lied to me."

"Have some peanuts, but I can't tell you who gave them to me."

"Joan Mondale went to school with my wife."

"I can never get the Carter kids' names straight. When they come in the house for milk they all look alike."

"I'll never forgive Gen. Sherman for what he did to Atlanta, even if Jimmy does."

"Eleanor Mondale used to be in my daughter's car pool."

"The reason I didn't take a job with his administration is I told the President I could be of much more value to him by advising him as a private citizen."

"Three guesses who came to my Bible class last Sunday?"

"When Jimmy was governor of Georgia, he pardoned my brother."

"Carter has never forgiven me for turning down a job in his administration."

"I'll say this for Jimmy. When we played football together in the Navy, he always wore a helmet."

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Reagan May Have a Tax Dodge

By Jack Anderson
with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — President Ford's campaign aides are trying to make a case of tax avoidance against Ronald Reagan. The President's men, searching for material to embarrass Reagan, have asked a law firm to analyze the information he has released about his finances. The law firm has concluded, according to a confidential campaign memorandum, that he must be using his children to escape paying full taxes.

The confidential analysis indicates that Reagan's taxable income is "extraordinarily low for a man with his financial background and assets." The lawyers, therefore, believe that Reagan "most likely has a number of irrevocable trusts for his children. In that way, income derived from such trusts would not be reported by Mr. Reagan but would be reported by his children on their tax returns."

A spokesman for Reagan categorically denied that the former California governor has established irrevocable trusts for his children. We called this to the attention of the Ford aides, who were upset that we had obtained their confidential memo.

They acknowledged that they had no "hard evidence" to prove their case against Reagan. But if Reagan isn't hiding income in irrevocable trusts, they said, he must be hiding it somewhere else.

Reagan has only himself to blame for the questions that have been raised about his tax returns. Several months ago, we asked all the major presidential candidates for their income tax returns for the past five years. To avoid future Washington scandals, we contended, the public has the right to know whether presidential aspirants have a clean financial record.

Reagan was the only candidate who refused to open up his tax returns. It would violate his privacy, he said. A month after our stories appeared, Reagan yielded under the pressure and released some general information about the taxes he had paid from 1970 through 1975. But he combined all his federal, state, property and sales taxes and revealed only the lump sum.

It was impossible to ferret out how much federal income tax Reagan had paid each year. Earlier, a story had leaked out that Reagan paid no state income taxes in 1970, even though his income for the year was $73,000.

"The tax lawyers have noted," states the confidential memo, "that if their understanding of Mr. Reagan's 1970 tax returns is correct, that is, no state taxes paid that year, they believe that ... he most likely paid no federal taxes because the same tax base is used" to calculate both state and federal taxes.

A spokesman insisted that Reagan had paid "several hundred dollars" in federal taxes in 1970 but refused to specify the exact amount.

Terrorist Ties: Israel has claimed that Uganda's madcap President Idi Amin enthusiastically cooperated with the pro-Palestinian terrorists who hijacked a French airliner and flew the hostages to his country.

Israeli commandos made a daring, 2,500-mile stab into the jungle, landed at Uganda's Entebbe airport and freed the hostages. The raid has stirred up an international controversy, which culminated in a full-scale United Nations debate.

The irrepressible Idi Amin, meanwhile, has issued plaintive statements, wailing that he had tried to save the hostages and that the Israelis had repaid his kindness by shooting up his soldiers. The available information, according to our intelligence sources, confirms the Israeli account. Here's what our sources have been able to establish:

— The hijackers planned from the start to land in Uganda. They told the hostages their destination, and they took on enough fuel during a stopover in Libya to reach the Uganda airport.

— When the hijacked plane landed on Entebbe, a German terrorist was heard by witnesses to say: "Now it is okay. I can see Ugandan soldiers are here."

— In the airport lounge, Ugandan waiters already had food prepared for the hostages. One prisoner asked how so many meals could be prepared so fast. The head waiter laughed and said: "We knew well in advance you were coming."

— Amin personally embraced the terrorists, calling them "My brothers." He loudly proclaimed that he was their friend and that he would help liberate all the Palestinian prisoners in Israel.

Dangerous Column: The Food and Drug Administration has accused columnist James Kilpatrick of writing a dangerous column about the apricot-pit-derived drug Laetrile, which has been offered as a cancer cure.

Kilpatrick conceded that the drug is probably "worthless" but defended the cancer victims' right to use it, contending it is "harmless." The FDA, in a private letter to Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., warned that Laetrile is far from "harmless" but, on the contrary, could cause death.

"Mr. Kilpatrick's false claim that Laetrile is harmless cannot be dismissed or interfere with early diagnosis and swift treatment."

Footnote: Kilpatrick told us the FDA is "wrought up. This is purely a matter of scientific disagreements on the harmless-ness."

Priest says Demos will lose votes due to platform plank on abortion

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Catholic priest predicts half the members of the church may desert the Democratic party this year because its stand on abortion "seems to be written expressly to alienate Catholics."

"The rest of the Democratic platform is excellent," said the Rev. Tom Reardon, who will join other Roman Catholic leaders Thursday in Washington to plan strategy for the Republican National Convention. He is director of the Catholic Formation Center in Kansas City.

The Democratic plank says it would be undesirable to amend the Constitution to overturn decisions on abortion by the U. S. Supreme Court limiting the right of the states to prohibit abortions.

Father Reardon said he agreed with the Rev. Robert N. Deming, pastor of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Kansas City, who declined to give the benediction at the Democratic National Convention because of the abortion plank.

"The Republicans have given us time to testify at their platform hearings," Father Reardon said. "We want the Republicans to understand the Catholic position."

Father Reardon predicted even if the Republicans adopt a neutral stand on abortion they will attract a large majority of Catholics. The only way that Catholics could remain within the Democratic party would be if Jimmy Carter were to disavow the abortion plank, he said.

The Democratic nominee for president last week refused to do this.

Father Reardon said Ronald Reagan has attracted widespread Catholic support by advocating a constitutional amendment which would prohibit abortion.

Ann Landers

Former alcoholic horrified by report

Dear Ann Landers: I am a recovered alcoholic and a long-time member of AA. Something I read in the paper recently bothered me so much I was up all night. I hope and pray you will print my letter and undo some of the damage done by the Rand Corporation.

The Rand Corp. study released only recently stated, "Some alcoholics can return to normal drinking after treatment with no more danger of excessive imbibing than teetotalers." That statement is tantamount to tossing a firebomb into the crowd at a football stadium. Millions of alcoholics would love to believe that's all they need to go back to the bottle. And you can bet, after reading that release, many of them will. What a tragedy!

The suggestion that sober alcoholics might experiment with controlled drinking is completely erroneous. I have spent the greater part of my adult life studying and working with alcoholics. I can tell you that this approach has proven to be almost universally disastrous.

The announcement by the Rand Corp. study group conveys appalling ignorance. They say, "The majority of improved patients are either drinking moderate amounts of alcohol -- but at levels far below what could be described as alcoholic drinking -- or they are engaging in alternate periods of drinking and abstinence."

Anyone who has studied alcoholism knows QUANTITY has little to do with the alcoholic's problem. It is HOW the person responds to alcohol that determines whether or not he is a problem drinker. Once a person has crossed the line between social drinking and alcoholism, he should not have even a single drop.

Rand deserves a kick in their collective pants for their irresponsibility in releasing such destructive material. Sign me -- A Chicago Reader

Dear Reader: Thank you for writing. I, too, saw the Rand Corp. release and was horrified. I earnestly hope that enough high-powered experts in the field of alcoholism will clobber that report sufficiently so that we will soon be reading a retraction.

Dear Ann: I agree with "I'm P.K." It's HER face. Why should she alter what God gave her just to please others?

And why do you rate yourself above God by encouraging the woman to have plastic surgery?

I look at your picture every day and your forehead is too high, your cheeks are too fat, your eyes are too small, and your mouth is crooked.

God made no rules as to what people are supposed to look like and neither should you. I look at my friends from the inside out. How about you? -- Face To Face

Dear Face: Thanks for your sweet letter. I hope you will view me as a friend -- even though my forehead is too high, my cheeks are too fat, my eyes are too small, and my mouth is crooked.

CONFIDENTIAL to Ready to Flip: You are bisexual. Counseling WOULD help you adjust and understand your problem.

Rapid fluctuation in retail food prices

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retail food prices were mixed again this week with individual items showing wide fluctuations from a week ago, according to the Missouri Farm Bureau's weekly marketbasket survey.

Prices for the 21 food items checked at 50 grocery stores across the state varied from dime hikes to 14 cent declines over last week, the survey of average prices showed.

On the rising side for beef cuts was arm roast, which rose a dime a pound to $1.14, followed by rib steak, up four cents a pound to $1.69, and blade roast, up three cents to 84 cents a pound.

But T-Bone steak dropped 14 cents a pound to $2.05 and sirloin steak was eight cents a pound lower at $1.88.

Round steak was down three cents a pound to $1.46 and ground beef was two cents cheaper at 76 cents a pound.

Ham cuts were six cents a pound lower with shank portions falling to 95 cents and butt portions to $1.07.

Center cut chops were four cents lower at $1.84 while pork steak climbed nine cents a pound to $1.41 and pork blade roast was a nickel higher at $1.34 a pound.

Chicken was a penny a pound higher with whole fryers up to 54 cents and cut up parts up to 62 cents.

A gallon of whole milk was two cents cheaper at $1.53 while 2 per cent remained steady at $1.48.

A dozen grade A eggs were mixed with extra large up a penny to 81 cents and large and medium down a penny to 75 cents and 68 cents respectively.

A 1 1/2 pound loaf of white bread was 12 cents cheaper at 54 cents while 10 pounds of red potatoes were down a nickel to $1.41.

Priest says Demos will lose votes due to platform plank on abortion

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Catholic priest predicts half the members of the church may desert the Democratic party this year because its stand on abortion "seems to be written expressly to alienate Catholics."

"The rest of the Democratic platform is excellent," said the Rev. Tom Reardon, who will join other Roman Catholic leaders Thursday in Washington to plan strategy for the Republican National Convention. He is director of the Catholic Formation Center in Kansas City.

The Democratic plank says it would be undesirable to amend the Constitution to overturn decisions on abortion by the U. S. Supreme Court limiting the right of the states to prohibit abortions.

Father Reardon said he agreed with the Rev. Robert N. Deming, pastor of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Kansas City, who declined to give the benediction at the Democratic National Convention because of the abortion plank.

"The Republicans have given us time to testify at their platform hearings," Father Reardon said. "We want the Republicans to understand the Catholic position."

Father Reardon predicted even if the Republicans adopt a neutral stand on abortion they will attract a large majority of Catholics. The only way that Catholics could remain within the Democratic party would be if Jimmy Carter were to disavow the abortion plank, he said.

The Democratic nominee for president last week refused to do this.

Father Reardon said Ronald Reagan has attracted widespread Catholic support by advocating a constitutional amendment which would prohibit abortion.

Former alcoholic horrified by report

Dear Ann Landers: I am a recovered alcoholic and a long-time member of AA. Something I read in the paper recently bothered me so much I was up all night. I hope and pray you will print my letter and undo some of the damage done by the Rand Corporation.

The Rand Corp. study released only recently stated, "Some alcoholics can return to normal drinking after treatment with no more danger of excessive imbibing than teetotalers." That statement is tantamount to tossing a firebomb into the crowd at a football stadium. Millions of alcoholics would love to believe that's all they need to go back to the bottle. And you can bet, after reading that release, many of them will. What a tragedy!

The suggestion that sober alcoholics might experiment with controlled drinking is completely erroneous. I have spent the greater part of my adult life studying and working with alcoholics. I can tell you that this approach has proven to be almost universally disastrous.

The announcement by the Rand Corp. study group conveys appalling ignorance. They say, "The majority of improved patients are either drinking moderate amounts of alcohol — but at levels far below what could be described as alcoholic drinking — or they are engaging in alternate periods of drinking and abstinence."

Anyone who has studied alcoholism knows QUANTITY has little to do with the alcoholic's problem. It is HOW the person responds to alcohol that determines whether or not he is a problem drinker. Once a person has crossed the line between social drinking and alcoholism, he should not have even a single drop.

Rand deserves a kick in their collective pants for their irresponsibility in releasing such destructive material. Sign me — A Chicago Reader.

Dear Reader: Thank you for writing. I, too, saw the Rand Corp. release and was horrified. I earnestly hope that enough high-powered experts in the field of alcoholism will clobber that report sufficiently so that we will soon be reading a retraction.

Dear Ann: I agree with "I'm P.K." It's HER face. Why should she alter what God gave her just to please others?

And why do you rate yourself above God by encouraging the woman to have plastic surgery?

I look at your picture every day and your forehead is too high, your cheeks are too fat, your eyes are too small, and your mouth is crooked.

God made no rules as to what people are supposed to look like and neither should you. I look at my friends from the inside out. How about you? — Face To Face

Dear Face: Thanks for your sweet letter. I hope you will view me as a friend — even though my forehead is too high, my cheeks are too fat, my eyes are too small, and my mouth is crooked.

CONFIDENTIAL to Ready to Flip: You are bisexual. Counseling WOULD help you adjust and understand your problem.

Rapid fluctuation in retail food prices

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retail food prices were mixed again this week with individual items showing wide fluctuations from a week ago, according to the Missouri Farm Bureau's weekly marketbasket survey.

Prices for the 21 food items checked at 50 grocery stores across the state varied from dime hikes to 14 cent declines over last week, the survey of average prices showed.

On the rising side for beef cuts was arm roast, which rose a dime a pound to $1.14, followed by rib steak, up four cents a pound to $1.69, and blade roast, up three cents to 84 cents a pound.

But T-Bone steak dropped 14 cents a pound to $2.05 and sirloin steak was eight cents a pound lower at $1.88.

Round steak was down three cents a pound to $1.46 and ground beef was two cents cheaper at 76 cents a pound.

Ham cuts were six cents a pound lower with shank portions falling to 95 cents and butt portions to $1.07.

Center cut chops were four cents lower at $1.84 while pork steak climbed nine cents a pound to $1.41 and pork blade roast was a nickel higher at $1.34 a pound.

Chicken was a penny a pound higher with whole fryers up to 54 cents and cut up parts up to 62 cents.

A gallon of whole milk was two cents cheaper at $1.53 while 2 per cent remained steady at $1.48.

A dozen grade A eggs were mixed with extra large up a penny to 81 cents and large and medium down a penny to 75 cents and 68 cents respectively.

A 1-1/2 pound loaf of white bread was 12 cents cheaper at 54 cents while 10 pounds of red potatoes were down a nickel to $1.41.

Judge rules child entitled to support

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — There was a wedding, but not a marriage. But the child born to the partners in the marriage — or wedding — is legitimate and must be financially supported by the father.

That, at least, was part of a decision handed down by St. Louis County Circuit Judge Orville W. Richardson Monday in a complex marriage, divorce and paternity suit.

Eric Stegemann of Des Peres had brought suit to expunge county records of the 1969 marriage he said he never had with Christl Kubitschek, a resident of West Germany who was living here at the time.

Miss Kubitschek, however, filed her own claim, saying that Stegemann had indeed married her in 1969 but had asked for a divorce immediately thereafter. She asserted also that Stegemann was the father of her child, Antonia Alberta Stegemann, 6.

Chaffee-Sikeston rivalry still raging in Sr. Babe Ruth League

By CHARLIE FRANCIS

Traditionally, Babe Ruth League baseball games between Sikeston and Chaffee teams have been marked with controversy. Last night's game at Jackson was no exception.

Chaffee pushed across a run in the bottom of the eleventh to take a hard-fought 4-3 decision of Sikeston's All-Stars in the winner's bracket of the District Senior Babe Ruth League Tournament. Chaffee is still undefeated in the tournament, while Sikeston has now lost once. Sikeston plays Jackson tonight at 8:00 in the loser's bracket, with the winner earning the right to meet Chaffee Wednesday night. Chaffee needs to win only one more game to claim the district title, while either Sikeston or Jackson would have to knock them off on successive nights to win the right to represent the area in the State tournament at Boonville.

Sikeston's Ricky Taylor

hooked up with Chaffee's Randy Newcomer in what turned out to be one of the most interesting pitching duels of the summer. Newcomer, who went all the way in the game, yielded a leadoff single to Gary Silverthorn to start the game, but Sikeston failed to score.

Controversy made its entrance into the battle in the fourth, with the game still scoreless. Sikeston shortstop Dale Deal singled to left and then stole second. Deal tried to steal third and was called out on a close play, but took a swing at Chaffee third-baseman Neil Stubbs after the latter put a hard tag on the Sikeston runner, who was sliding head first. Deal was ejected from the game.

Chaffee broke the scoreless deadlock in the fourth. Stubbs singled and advanced to second on a wild pitch. With two out, Bill Hampton, who moved to shortstop from left field in replacement of Deal, threw wildly to first after fielding Ray Campbell's easy grounder. Stubbs scored on the play, giving the Semo North Conference champs a 1-0 lead.

But Sikeston bounced back in the top of the fifth to take the lead. Hampton atoned for his miscue by grounding a single to left to start the rally. Mark Eaves walked, and Taylor bunted the runners to second and third. Silverthorn laced a line drive sacrifice fly to tie the game, with Eaves holding at second. After Jeff Limbaugh singled Eaves to third, Sikeston pulled off a clever baserunning maneuver. Limbaugh intentionally became caught in a rundown between first and second, and while Chaffee's attentions were set retiring him, Eaves raced home with the lead run, making it 2-1. Shortstop Greg Miller booted David Shell's ground to allow another runner to score, making it 3-1 Sikeston.

But the lead was short-lived. Newcomer, who helped himself with three hits in the game, singled in the bottom of the fifth. After Miller fanned and Bryan Drew walked, Wachter singled to center, scoring Newcomer. Sikeston centerfielder Ron Schlosser elected to throw to third, but his toss missed the cutoff man and sailed into the Chaffee backstop along the third baseline. Two umpires ruled that the ball had gone into the Chaffee dugout, and Drew was also allowed to score. That tied it at 3-3, and it stayed that way until the tenth.

Don Kiefer began the bottom of the tenth by lining a shot into rightfield. What was apparently a single eluded Marc Eaves and went into the corner for a triple.

Pitcher Larry Jackson, who had taken over for Taylor in the ninth, fanned Stubbs for the first out. Rick Hamm then lofted a long fly down the left field line. Kenny Standridge, a defensive replacement in the late innings, made a fine running catch of the ball near the foul line, but Kiefer tagged at third and scored the winning run easily.

Both teams were not without other chances to win. Kevin McGuire was gunned out at the plate by Eaves in the sixth after trying to score from second on Newcomer's short single to Traditionally, Babe Ruth League baseball games between Sikeston and Chaffee teams have been marked with controversy. Last night's game at Jackson was no exception.

Chaffee pushed across a run in the bottom of the eleventh to take a hard-fought 4-3 decision of Sikeston's All-Stars in the winner's bracket of the District Senior Babe Ruth League Tournament. Chaffee is still undefeated in the tournament, while Sikeston has now lost once. Sikeston plays Jackson tonight at 8:00 in the loser's bracket, with the winner earning the right to meet Chaffee Wednesday night. Chaffee needs to win only one more game to claim the district title, while either Sikeston or Jackson would have to knock them off on successive nights to win the right to represent the area in the State tournament at Booneville.

Sikeston's Ricky Taylor

hooked up with Chaffee's Randy Newcomer in what turned out to be one of the most interesting pitching duels of the summer. Newcomer, who went all the way in the game, yielded a leadoff single to Gary Silverthorn to start the game, but Sikeston failed to score.

Controversy made its entrance into the battle in the fourth, with the game still scoreless. Sikeston shortstop Dale Deal singled to left and then stole second. Deal tried to steal third and was called out on a close play, but took a swing at Chaffee third-baseman Neil Stubbs after the latter put a hard tag on the Sikeston runner, who was sliding head first. Deal was ejected from the game.

Chaffee broke the scoreless deadlock in the fourth. Stubbs singled and advanced to second on a wild pitch. With two out, Bill Hampton, who moved to shortstop from left field in replacement of Deal, threw wildly to first after fielding Ray Campbell's easy grounder. Stubbs scored on the play, giving the Semo North Conference champs a 1-0 lead.

But Sikeston bounced back in the top of the fifth to take the lead. Hampton atoned for his miscue by grounding a single to left to start the rally. Mark Eaves walked, and Taylor bunted the runners to second and third. Silverthorn laced a line drive sacrifice fly to left to score Hampton and tie the game, with Eaves holding at second. After Jeff Limbaugh singled Eaves to third, Sikeston pulled off a clever baserunning maneuver. Limbaugh intentionally became caught in a rundown between first and second, and while Chaffee's attentions were set retiring him, Eaves raced home with the lead run, making it 2-1. Shortstop Greg Miller booted David Shell's ground to allow another runner to score, making it 3-1 Sikeston.

But the lead was short-lived. Newcomer, who helped himself with three hits in the game, singled in the bottom of the fifth. After Miller fanned and Bryan Drew walked, Wachter singled to center, scoring Newcomer. Sikeston centerfielder Ron Schlosser elected to throw to third, but his toss missed the cutoff man and sailed into the Chaffee backstop along the third baseline. Two umpires ruled that the ball had gone into the Chaffee dugout, and Drew was also allowed to score. That tied it at 3-3, and it stayed that way until the tenth.

Don Kiefer began the bottom of the tenth by lining a shot into rightfield. What was apparently a single eluded Marc Eaves and went into the corner for a triple.

New Madrid Co. claims crown

BERTRAND—A very strong New Madrid County Junior Babe Ruth All-Star team won the District 13-15 year-old tournament here Monday night with a convincing 14-6 victory over Sikeston. The loss was the second for Sikeston's all-stars in two days to the champions. Sunday afternoon New Madrid County whipped Sikeston 9-1. Sikeston had defeated Tri-County earlier in the evening by the score of 17-7 behind the pitching of Jeff Young.

New Madrid did everything right in their game against Sikeston and displayed a very potent hitting attack which saw George Johnson go 4-for-5 at the plate to lead all hitters.

The first game of the night for Sikeston saw plenty of hitting and good pitching after the first inning of play.

Young was wild in the first inning allowing four walks with a double in between which gave Tri-County a 4-0 lead but Sikeston's booming bats came to life in the top of the third inning and the all-stars scored nine runs on nine hits to take a 12-5 lead which they protected the rest of the way.

Doug Pollard started on the mound for Sikeston against Mike Ivie for New Madrid County. Pollard immediately ran into trouble as the first batter was walked. George Johnson collected the first of his four hits and an attempted sacrifice went for a bases loaded base hit. The tourney's most outstanding third baseman, Shane Story promptly belted a double to score two runs and New Madrid was out in front to stay. Pollard was taken out with no one retired and Steve Burgess came in to relieve. Burgess issued a bases loaded walk and after one out hit a batter in the head to score a run. Before his side could be retired a walk forced in a run and New Madrid led 4-0 before Sikeston came to bat.

Mike Ivie disposed of Sikeston very easily in the bottom of the first inning and New Madrid County promptly went to work against Burgess to score two more runs. George Johnson led off with a triple to start the scoring. One run scored on a wild throw to first after a strikeout and the second run scored on a sacrifice fly. Sikeston managed to score two runs in the bottom of the second. Scott Campbell belted a double down the right field line. Two walks and a wild throw to first produced the runs.

New Madrid continued to feast on the weak Sikeston pitching as they scored three more runs in the top of the fourth inning. Eddie Wasson relieved to start the third and retired the side with no runs but ran into trouble in the fourth. Steve Fisher singled and Shane Story doubled and a run scored on a wild throw to first base. A run was walked in and the third run scored on a strikeout and wild throw to first base to make the score 9-2.

Sikeston sent a parade of pitchers to the plate but New Madrid's superior hitting handled the situation very well.

Some loose fielding and hitting by Sikeston allowed them to score three runs in the bottom of the seventh but the game ended on a fine play by New Madrid's leftfielder.

New Madrid County will represent Southeast Missouri in the State tournament at Kirksville, Missouri next Monday.

Behind The Scenes In Pro Sports

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS. By Bob Woolf. Atheneum. 300 Pages. $9.95.

Sports fans interested in getting a behind the scenes peek into the world of professional sports are given the opportunity in Bob Woolf's "Behind Closed Doors."

Woolf has been inside those doors for the past 12 years as legal representative for athletes in fields from baseball to billiards, and he shows that:

—They are portals of humanness in a world where the athlete is pictured as the god of the playing field. That door is opened when Woolf tells of former Boston Bruins defenseman Ted Green as he lay in a hospital bed, his future in question after a brain injury sustained in a 1969 hitting incident.

—They are barriers of an at times puzzling naivety, as when the organizers of the ill-fated World Football League sat in a Los Angeles hotel, watched the 1974 Super Bowl on television and said, "I'll take this player."

Woolf takes the reader through the often-baffling business of sports, where the contract offers come in dizzying denominations to the talented and not-so-talented alike.

This is not a "kiss and tell" book; there are few details about the players' personal lives. But there is meat enough for a full-course meal when few sports books today offer sufficient substance for a sandwich.

It is a book about sports seen through the eyes of a participant on each of three levels: as a player's representative, as a management representative, and as a commissioner (for he was approached to head the ABA in 1972.)

Through stories told in a businesslike way, the maze of sports is broken down to its elements — sharing with the readers the closed door dealings which every ticket buyer has a right to see but too rarely is permitted a peek.

D'Acquisto now has things under control

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John D'Acquisto tamed his control problem, one of baseball's most acute, at least temporarily and San Francisco Giants fans rewarded the pitcher with a standing ovation.

"I never gave up on myself, and the fans were behind me all the way," the 24-year-old right-hander said Monday after beating the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 with ninth-inning relief aid from Mike Caldwell.

It was D'Acquisto's first victory of the season and his first as a starter since April 16, 1975. He had to get over the effects of a mid-1975 elbow operation as well as fighting the wildness that has plagued his pitching career.

Early this season, the pitcher requested to be sent to the minors to get more work, but the Giants had to deny the request since they would have had to put him on waivers.

"Maybe some people will start calling me D'Acquisto again instead of 'Ball Four,'" he said Monday, referring to the nickname awarded him by one baseball writer.

D'Acquisto has walked 62 batters in 56 innings this season. He walked eight Monday, but five came in the first three innings. He walked none from the fourth through the seventh, and when he returned to the dugout leading 5-1 on a four-hitter, the small Candlestick Park crowd of 1,587 gave him the much-appreciated standing ovation.

"I had everything going," said D'Acquisto, who also had two hits off Bob Forsch, 4-5, in the victory. "It was a big stepping stone for me."

The Cardinals' Keith Hernandez scored the first run Monday, walking and later coming home from third on a wild pitch in the second inning.

D'Acquisto singled in a rally which tied the score at 1-1 in the third, and Forsch walked three batters in the fifth helping the Giants score three runs to break the tie.

D'Acquisto left after walking the leadoff batter in the ninth. A hit off Caldwell by Don Kessinger and a passed ball set up a two-run single by Lou Brock.

Forsch allowed 10 hits and walked five in 5 1/3 innings, and catcher Ted Simmons admitted, "He didn't have his control."

The 26-year-old right-hander was 15-10 with a 2.86 earned run average last year in his first full big league season. His ERA is 3.80 now.

"That's not too high an ERA, and I think he's pitched better than his record would indicate. He pitched six straight good games without getting a decision. Maybe he just hasn't gotten the breaks that could have made him something like 10-6 instead of 4-5," said Simmons. "I'm not worried about Bob Forsch."

And the Giants aren't nearly as worried today as they were about John D'Acquisto.

Strickland, Citizens Bank win

Big innings played important parts in victories for both Strickland's Texaco and Citizens Bank as both teams won Senior Division games Monday night in the Sikeston Womens and Girls Softball League.

Strickland scored thirteen times in the second inning and went on to beat Clinton Construction 18-3. Strickland added five more runs in the third. Edwards ripped three hits for the winners.

Citizens Bank crossed the plate eleven times in the fifth to erase a 14-10 lead and then held on to take a 21-17 victory over Williams Brothers. Grojean went four-for-five for the losers, who outlived Citizens Bank 18-17 despite losing. Pattengill, Johnson and McClellan had three hits apiece for the winning team.

First National Bank took a 7-0 forfeit victory over the Eagles.

In the ninth, Gary Silverthorn walked and Jeff Limbaugh doubled to give Sikeston a two-out chance. Barnett Barnett came off the bench to pinch hit for Chris Alberts, but Newcomer fanned the lefthanded swinger on three pitches to kill the threat.

Behind The Scenes In Pro Sports

BEHIND CLOSED DOORS. By Bob Woolf. Atheneum. 300 Pages. $9.95.

Sports fans interested in getting a behind the scenes peek into the world of professional sports are given the opportunity in Bob Woolf's "Behind Closed Doors."

Woolf has been inside those doors for the past 12 years as legal representative for athletes in fields from baseball to basketball, and he shows that: —They are portals of humaneness in a world where the athlete is pictured as the god of the playing field. That door is opened when Woolf tells of former Boston Bruins defenseman Ted Green as he lay in a hospital bed, his future in question after a brain injury sustained in a 1969 high sticking incident.

—They are barriers of an at times puzzling naivety, as when the organizers of the ill-fated World Football League sat in a Los Angeles hotel, watched the 1974 Super Bowl on television and said, "I'll take that player." "I'll take that player" for a rebel circuit that would last only a trouble-plagued 1½ years.

Woolf takes the reader through the often-baffling business of sports, where the contract offers come in dizzying denominations to the talented and not-so-talented alike.

This is not a "kiss and tell" book; there are few details about the players' personal lives. But there is meat enough for a full-course meal when few sports books today offer sufficient substance for a sandwich.

It is a book about sports seen through the eyes of a participant on each of three levels: as a player's representative, as a management representative, and as a commissioner (for he was approached to head the ABA in 1972.)

Through stories told in a businesslike way, the maze of sports is broken down to its elements — sharing with the readers the closed door dealings which every ticket buyer has a right to see but far too rarely is permitted a peek.

D'Acquisto now has things under control

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John D'Acquisto tamed his control problem, one of baseball's most acute, at least temporarily and San Francisco Giants fans rewarded the pitcher with a standing ovation.

"I never gave up on myself, and the fans were behind me all the way," the 24-year-old right-hander said Monday after beating the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 with ninth-inning relief aid from Mike Caldwell.

It was D'Acquisto's first victory of the season and his first as a starter since April 16, 1975. He had to get over the effects of a mid-1975 elbow operation as well as fighting the wildness that has plagued his pitching career.

Early this season, the pitcher requested to be sent to the minors to get more work, but the Giants had to deny the request since they would have had to put him on waivers.

"Maybe some people will start calling me D'Acquisto again instead of 'Ball Four,'" he said Monday, referring to the nickname awarded him by one baseball writer.

D'Acquisto has walked 62 batters in 56 innings this season. He walked eight Monday, but five came in the first three innings. He walked none from the fourth through the seventh, and when he returned to the dugout leading 5-1 on a four-hitter, the small Candlestick Park crowd of 1,587 gave him the much-appreciated standing ovation.

"I had everything going," said D'Acquisto, who also had two hits off Bob Forsch, 4-5, in the victory. "It was a big stepping stone for me."

The Cardinals' Keith Hernandez scored the first run Monday, walking and later coming home from third on a wild pitch in the second inning.

D'Acquisto singled in a rally which tied the score at 1-1 in the third, and Forsch walked three batters in the fifth helping the Giants score three runs to break the tie.

D'Acquisto left after walking the leadoff batter in the ninth. A hit off Caldwell by Don Kessinger and a passed ball set up a two-run single by Lou Brock.

Forsch allowed 10 hits and walked five in 5 1/3 innings, and catcher Ted Simmons admitted, "He didn't have his control."

The 26-year-old right-hander was 15-10 with a 2.86 earned run average last year in his first full big league season. His ERA is 3.80 now.

"That's not too high an ERA, and I think he's pitched better than his record would indicate. He pitched six straight good games without getting a decision. Maybe he just hasn't gotten the breaks that could have made him something like 10-6 instead of 4-5," said Simmons. "I'm not worried about Bob Forsch."

And the Giants aren't nearly as worried today as they were about John D'Acquisto.

Strickland, Citizens Bank win

Big innings played important parts in victories for both Strickland's Texaco and Citizens Bank as both teams won Senior Division games Monday night in the Sikeston Womens and Girls Softball League.

Strickland scored thirteen times in the second inning and went on to beat Clinton Construction 18-3. Strickland added five more runs in the third. Edwards ripped three hits for the winners.

Citizens Bank crossed the plate eleven times in the fifth to erase a 14-10 lead and then held on to take a 21-17 victory over Williams Brothers. Grojean went four-for-five for the losers, who outhit Citizens Bank 18-17 despite losing. Pattengill, Johnson and McClenahan had three hits apiece for the winning team.

First National Bank took a 7-0 forfeit victory over the Eagles.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, July 20, the 202nd day of 1976. There are 164 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in History: On this date in 1969, the American astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, became the first men to land on the moon.
On this date: In 1810, Colombia declared independence from Spain.
In 1861, the Congress of the Civil War Confederacy began holding sessions in Richmond, Va.
In 1913, Turkey recaptured the city of Adrianople from Bulgaria.
In 1944, during World War II, Radio Berlin reported that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped death in a bomb plot.
In 1945, the U.S. flag was raised over Berlin as American troops prepared to take part in the occupation government

after World War II.
In 1974, Turkey invaded the Mediterranean island of Cyprus with powerful land, sea and air forces.
Ten years ago: President Johnson warned that the United States would take unspecified action against North Vietnam if that nation tried captured American pilots as war criminals.
Five years ago: Fighting in South Vietnam was at its lowest ebb in six years.
One year ago: Hundreds of Cambodians were gunned down by Communist troops as they tried to escape into Thailand.
Today's birthdays: Explorer and mountain climber Edmund Hillary is 57 years old. Auto executive Benson Ford also is 57.
Thought for today: In the past, the moon was an inspiration to lovers and poets; in the future it will be just another airport — anonymous.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 20, the 202nd day of 1976. There are 164 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1969, the American astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, became the first men to land on the moon.

On this date:

In 1810, Colombia declared independence from Spain.

In 1861, the Congress of the Civil War Confederacy began holding sessions in Richmond, Va.

In 1913, Turkey recaptured the city of Adrianople from Bulgaria.

In 1944, during World War II, Radio Berlin reported that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped death in a bomb plot.

In 1945, the U.S. flag was raised over Berlin as American troops prepared to take part in the occupation government

after World War II.

In 1974, Turkey invaded the Mediterranean island of Cyprus with powerful land, sea and air forces.

Ten years ago: President Johnson warned that the United States would take unspecified action against North Vietnam if that nation tried captured American pilots as war criminals.

Five years ago: Fighting in South Vietnam was at its lowest ebb in six years.

One year ago: Hundreds of Cambodians were gunned down by Communist troops as they tried to escape to Thailand.

Today's birthdays: Explorer and mountain climber Edmund Hillary is 57 years old. Auto executive Benson Ford also is 57.

Thought for today: In the past, the moon was an inspiration to lovers and poets; in the future it will be just another airport — anonymous.

What's the law?
The case of the buxom thief

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.
Mr. Hoople boarded a train that was so packed with passengers that he grumbled more than the train rumbled.

Unable to find a seat, his annoyance diminished, however, when a shapely blonde pressed against him in the crowded car. Had she been any closer, in fact, she would have been behind him.

As the train swayed back and forth-causing the two to repeatedly brush against each other-Mr. Hoople and the woman repeatedly exchanged embarrassed smiles. It wasn't until the woman left the train, however, that Mr. Hoople suddenly realized that she had swiped his wallet.

Blaming the railroad company for his loss, Mr. Hoople sued the railroad company to get back his stolen money.

"Permitting the train to get so overcrowded," he complained, "was pure carelessness. It was the overcrowding that enabled my wallet to be heisted."

"If anyone was careless," responded a railroad company official, "it was Mr. Hoople. Instead of watching the blonde, he should have been watching his wallet. Obviously, he was careless in concentrating only on the woman."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the railroad company liable for Mr. Hoople's loss?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the railroad company could not be held accountable for Mr. Hoople's lost wallet unless he could show that his pocket was picked as a direct result of the overcrowding. In this case, concluded the judge, the theft could have been more the result of the sway of the blonde rather than the sway of the crowded train.

Mini-series based on hit novels to premiere this fall on television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mini-series based on hit novels may be the rage in TV now. But consider the situation comedy. The 1974 season began with 15 of them. Next fall, 26 are scheduled.

And the networks now even have vice presidents specializing in laughter's future, all working to develop new comedy ideas for TV.

Andy Siegel of CBS is one of them. He estimates he gets 75 comedy ideas offered him each week for consideration. All that considering about comedy can make a guy pretty grim, can't it?

"Well, no," he grinned. "There is pressure, but it's a tremendous amount of fun. I'm lucky ... this is an area where the whole idea is to find a special kind of lunacy that'll appeal to a lot of people."

CBS, the network most emphasizing situation comedy in recent years, had eight sitcoms on the air in the fall of 1974. It had 12 on last fall and when September comes it'll be airing 14 of the rascals.

The sitcom growth indicates a wide appeal, of course.

But television's sanitized "family viewing" hour, pushed by CBS and adopted by all three networks last fall to counter gripes about violence or plots involving sex on TV early at night, raises a question.

Does Siegel look for two kinds of situation comedy—one strictly for "family viewing" time, the other with bolder, more adult themes for after the family hour, when kids theoretically are abed?

"No," said the 34-year-old executive. "I screen comedies on the basis of what I think has the best chance to get on the schedule."

The family viewing hour starts at 8 p.m. on the East and West coasts, an hour earlier in other areas.

Because of said hour, Siegel said, many would-be laugh merchants with a situation comedy idea tend "to come in and say, 'This a post-nine o'clock show.'"

"A lot of people do that, say, 'We're doing a mature comedy.' I think that writers and producers sometimes have the wrong idea. They think you do bubblegum before nine and chewing tobacco after nine."

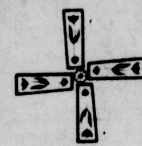

"Not so. I think the criteria is: Is it a good comedy, are there good characters, will they make people laugh?"

Still, when last season and the family hour began, only four of CBS' 12 situation comedies aired after the family hour finale.

I'm Bill Burlison, your U.S. Congressman. I have tried hard to serve the broad constituency of this district. This includes the small businessman, teacher, farmer, worker (both union and non-union) and many other groups that make this bicentennial nation strong and proud.

Everybody has not gotten everything he wanted. But everyone has been served fairly.

I have cast several thousand votes, over seven hundred this year alone. Yet, not one of these has been challenged by my opponents. I run now on that record.

I'm Bill Burlison, your U.S. Congressman. I have tried hard to serve the broad constituency of this district. This includes the small businessman, teacher, farmer, worker (both union and non-union) and many other groups that make this bicentennial nation strong and proud. Everybody has not gotten everything he wanted. But everyone has been served fairly.

I have cast several thousand votes, over seven hundred this year alone. Yet, not one of these has been challenged by my opponents. I run now on that record. Help me by voting in the Democratic primary in Missouri's Tenth District on August third.

4 are injured in two area accidents

Four persons were injured in two traffic accidents Monday on Southeast Missouri roads, according to the highway patrol.

A two-vehicle accident occurred at 9:20 a.m. Monday on Route 84, seven miles west of Hayti in Pemiscot County, when an eastbound car, driven by Bobby Joe Smith, 30, of Caruthersville attempted to make a left turn and an east-bound pickup, driven by Terry Lee Rawls, 21, of Malden, attempted to pass and struck the Smith vehicle from behind.

Smith suffered a broken collar bone and a passenger, Lillie Smith, 73, of Caruthersville, mother of the driver, suffered minor injuries. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

At 1:40 p.m. Monday an accident occurred one-and-one-half miles south of Poplar Bluff on a county gravel road when the driver of a westbound car, Jeffrey M. Woodrow, 16, of Poplar Bluff, lost control on loose gravel, ran off the road and struck a tree. Woodrow and a passenger, Jeff Waldwin, 16, of Poplar Bluff, suffered minor injuries and were taken to Lucy Le Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Amateur comes from the Latin "ama" or "original" and originally meant "one who has a taste for anything." In 17th century France, the term distinguished the connoisseur of fine arts.

zoning is where you are going to get into it. We can plan it, and as it comes to it, we can zone the things we are wanting.

Planning and zoning was voted in, and I don't think the people knew exactly what they were voting for. Since we have gotten into that, I will go along with the planning, but not the zoning. We can go ahead and be planning, but that zoning part is when we're going to have to have a lot of planning before we start zoning.

There are two different things there. We'll plan where future roads may be, but when you just start going out and zoning things, you're going to get into a big problem. You don't want to just take over people's barns and their farms and tell them you can't build here, you can't do that. I don't want to get into zoning right now, and nobody else should.

NUNNELEE: Certainly this is an important question, but again, it can only be answered after much study and deliberation has been made.

TETLEY: I look at county planning and zoning many ways, but I personally feel when a man owns his own land outside of the city limits, out in the country, he should be able to be the boss of it, and not the County Court.

QUESTION: Is there anything the County Court can do to relieve the serious drainage problems experienced by hill farmers in the north end of Scott County?

ZIEGENHORN: We have done a lot of good for those hill farmers. Most of the money we spent in this lower area to take care of the water comes out of the hills. The federal government spent a lot of money there last year. Now we've helped them an awful lot. So we are doing things and we do it all the time.

NUNNELEE: This will have to be determined by the court by making true investigation as to costs involved. The court has only so much money available for such projects, which are apt to be too expensive for the present budget. But, as increased allotments are available, they could be adopted for such measures of relief.

TETLEY: I realize that from time to time we have drainage problems in the hill farms of our county. The problem can be solved very easily by using some of the taxpayers' money that the County Court has on interest in time certificates and clean out the ditches so they can drain

Thieves hit Parma store

PARMA—Thieves took time out to drink a can of grapefruit juice before taking off with a quantity of men's clothing in a break-in sometime Monday night at Morgan's Dry Goods Store.

Marshal Larry Gee said the thieves found the juice in a refrigerator at the store.

A preliminary check indicated that two pairs of men's shoes, eight to 10 sports shirts, eight to 10 pairs of socks and one or two pairs of trousers were taken.

Harold Harchous, who operates a store next door, discovered the break-in at 7 a.m. today. A lock had been broken off the front door.

Mis-trial is declared

BLOOMFIELD—A Stoddard County Circuit Court jury last week could not reach a verdict in the case against Robert V. Killebrew, charged with stealing 13 food stamp coupon books valued at $520 from the First National Bank of Malden, and a mistrial was declared.

The case was heard by Special Judge Rex A. Henson of Poplar Bluff, who continued the change of venue case from Dunklin County to an indefinite date.

The jury retired at 3:50 p.m. Thursday, and was unable to reach a verdict.

assessed valuation—the same as last year.

A shelter for an ambulance supplied to the city by the Stoddard County Ambulance District was discussed, but no decision made.

Alderman Williams was instructed to talk with members of the ambulance board to discuss the idea of using either the old city jail or old firehouse for the vehicle.

Other county towns have provided shelter for the vehicles, including Advance and Bloomfield, which have built additions to present buildings specifically for that purpose.

In Dexter, the ambulance is presently left outside the firehouse in the open.

The council also agreed to buy a new backhoe and have another one owned by the city repaired.

A license renewal application by Ruth Webb for the Flamingo Lounge was routinely approved by the council.

Mrs. Webb until recently had a suit pending against the city in an attempt to allow dancing in taverns, and in the last city election was a mayoral candidate, losing to Conner.

We are one of the few counties in the state—the very few—and I would say as far as the auditor says, we are as well off as any third class county in the state of Missouri. We are a lot better off for the bidding on the bank money. We are better off than anyone in the state of Missouri; we get more interest.

And we are running on money, since 1975 money, and six years ago we had to borrow $100,000 to work it out. Two years ago we did; one year ago we borrowed money; this year I don't think we are going to have to borrow a dime. We are coming up real good, and it is because we are watching ourselves.

NUNNELEE: Yes.

TETLEY: I will answer you by saying that when elected as the First District judge, this will be one of my No. 1 Democratic priorities.

QUESTION: Have you any further statement to make?

ZIEGENHORN: I would appreciate your votes, and I feel I have done a good job. I'll let my record stand as is. Everybody is welcome to look at the tax books. We'll be glad to show anyone; it's wide open. We hide nothing and they're welcome to come and see it.

NUNNELEE: I am happy to participate and to cooperate with The Daily Standard in getting the information to the voters of Scott County District One.

TETLEY: I would like to point out to the voters of the First District that I am running as a true democrat. I'm proud to say that I have been a lifelong Democrat, and my opponent cannot truthfully say that. He likes to play both sides of the fence, whatever it takes to win an election.

I would appreciate your vote and support on Aug. 3, in the Democratic primary. I'd like to point out to the voters of Scott County First District that I will be giving one day, and possibly a half a day extra a week of my working time from my regular job to the voters of Scott County for the associate judge job. I will be there every time the court is open.

This is another thing that I have found out that my opponent does not regularly attend, so I will put aside this time for the voters that vote in the Scott County election. I would appreciate your vote and support on Aug. 3 in the Democratic primary.

Kroger Food Stores leaves Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kroger Food Stores announced Monday that, after doing business here 47 years, they intend to sell 24 supermarkets in the metropolitan area, including Lawrence and Leavenworth, Kan.

"We could not economically provide Kansas City area customers with the type of store and merchandising, particularly in the service specialty departments, to meet Kroger's standards of service," a company spokesman said.

Management time and capital could be used more productively in other areas, a spokesman for the grocery chain said, adding that store wages paid in greater Kansas City were more than most of the other markets served.

However, Jack Wood, acting president of the retail clerk's union, blamed Kroger's troubles on bad management, noting that Kroger paid the same salaries as other retailers in the city.

The stores will remain open until final sale arrangements are made. The company said it was talking to several potential buyers.

Bloomington, Ind., for supplying street signs, posts and fasteners, was approved.

In June, the city was awarded $4,307 for the placement of traffic and safety signs by the State Department of Highways and Safety with a total cost figured at $4,786.

With the costs of the signs at $2,328.94 and the cost of installation at $910 the total cost would be $4,148.94 with the city to pay $415.

A total of eight bids were received.

However, three of the bids did not include the cost of the posts and fasteners. The other five ranged from the Hall firm's low bid to a high bid of $3,606.35.

Police Sgt. Roy Olive reported to the council that a shotgun carried in the police car was stolen sometime Saturday night. He said the car was parked at the Bank of Chaffee building and locked. However, when he returned, the car had been entered, the shotgun taken and the car relocked.

Olive also reported that after an incident Friday night in which two Scott City men were arrested, he directed other officers on duty to disperse youths congregated on parking lots.

Officers patrolling the town stopped at Keith Moore's service station to ask a group to leave and an employee of Moore's allegedly told the officers they had no authority since they were on private property.

The officer reportedly then informed the employee that he was under arrest for an offense against authority. The employee reportedly broke and ran inside the service station and started to close the door. When the officer placed his foot on the door to keep it from closing, the frame of the door broke and the glass was shattered.

No charges have been placed against the employee, according to Police Chief David Townsend.

In other council business, committee reports were given by Bill Whistler, who conducted a survey into the possibility of operating a city-owned cable television service. He reported that a computerized signal study will be conducted within a week and that the approximate cost of establishing such a system would be $118,000.

The council suggested he study possible means of financing the operation after the signal survey is made.

Rice reported on an inspection of the city's swimming pool concerning possible renovation. He said Frank Santa Cruz, a representative of Midwest Pool & Court Co., of St. Louis, reported the inspection showed that a four-inch sealer would be needed on the bottom of the pool and that new pipes should be laid underneath.

With the raising of the bottom of the pool, it was suggested to recycle the water which goes into the overflow, according to Santa Cruz, who also recommended the installation of exhaust fans in the chlorination room.

Rice said he expected a cost analysis for the project from Santa Cruz in the near future.

Receiving a first reading before the council was an ordinance to regulate the licensing of coin-operated gaming machines, authorizing the operation of 15 machines under a merchants license at a cost of $15 a year and setting a cost of $5 for each machine over that amount.

A motion was made to revise the curfew ordinance by setting the curfew for youths 16 years old and under at 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and midnight on Friday and Saturday nights. Previously, the curfew ordinance included 17-year-olds and was 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and midnight on weekends.

Building permits approved were: Danny Gordon, 207 Easy St., family room and bedroom, $5,250, and a permit for parking a trailer for Eugene Noble, on Frisco Street.

4 are injured in two area accidents

Four persons were injured in two traffic accidents Monday on Southeast Missouri roads, according to the highway patrol.

A two-vehicle accident occurred at 9:20 a.m. Monday on Route 84, seven miles west of Hayti in Pemiscot County, when an eastbound car, driven by Bobby Joe Smith, 30, of Caruthersville attempted to make a left turn and an eastbound pickup, driven by Terry Lee Rawls, 21, of Malden, attempted to pass and struck the Smith vehicle from behind.

Smith suffered a broken collar bone and a passenger, Lillie Smith, 73, of Caruthersville, mother of the driver, suffered minor injuries. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

At 1:40 p.m. Monday an accident occurred one-and-one-half miles south of Poplar Bluff on a county gravel road when the driver of a westbound car, Jeffrey M. Woodrow, 16, of Poplar Bluff, lost control on loose gravel, ran off the road and struck a tree. Woodrow and a passenger, Jeff Waldwin, 16, of Poplar Bluff, suffered minor injuries and were taken to Lucy Le Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

zoning is where you are going to get into it. We can plan it, and as it comes to it, we can zone the things we are wanting.

Planning and zoning was voted in, and I don't think the people knew exactly what they were voting for. Since we have gotten into that, I will go along with the planning, but not the zoning. We can go ahead and be planning, but that zoning part is when we're going to have to have a lot of planning before we start zoning.

There are two different things there. We'll plan where future roads may be, but when you just start going out and zoning things, you're going to get into a big problem. You don't want to just take over people's barns and their farms and tell them you can't build here, you can't do that. I don't want to get into zoning right now, and nobody else should.

NUNNELEE: Certainly this is an important question, but again, it can only be answered after much study and deliberation has been made.

TETLEY: I look at county planning and zoning many ways, but I personally feel when a man owns his own land outside of the city limits, out in the country, he should be able to be the boss of it, and not the County Court.

QUESTION: Is there anything the County Court can do to relieve the serious drainage problems experienced by hill farmers in the north end of Scott County?

ZIEGENHORN: We have done a lot of good for those hill farmers. Most of the money we spent in this lower area to take care of the water comes out of the hills. The federal government spent a lot of money there last year. Now we've helped them an awful lot. So we are doing things and we do it all the time.

NUNNELEE: This will have to be determined by the court by making true investigation as to costs involved. The court has only so much money available for such projects, which are apt to be too expensive for the present budget. But, as increased allotments are available, they could be adopted for such measures of relief.

TETLEY: I realize that from time to time we have drainage problems in the hill farms of our county. The problem can be solved very easily by using some of the taxpayers' money that the County Court has on interest in time certificates and clean out the ditches so they can drain.

Smith suffered a broken collar bone and a passenger, Lillie Smith, 73, of Caruthersville, mother of the driver, suffered minor injuries. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Thieves hit Parma store

PARMA—Thieves took time out to drink a can of grapefruit juice before taking off with a quantity of men's clothing in a break-in sometime Monday night at Morgan's Dry Goods Store.

Marshal Larry Gee said the thieves found the juice in a refrigerator at the store.

A preliminary check indicated that two pairs of men's shoes, eight to 10 sports shirts, eight to 10 pairs of socks and one or two pairs of trousers were taken.

Harold Harchous, who operates a store next door, discovered the break-in at 7 a.m. today. A lock had been broken off the front door.

Mis-trial is declared

BLOOMFIELD—A Stoddard County Circuit Court jury last week could not reach a verdict in the case against Robert V. Killebrew, charged with stealing 13 food stamp coupon books valued at $520 from the First National Bank of Malden, and a mistrial was declared.

The case was heard by Special Judge Rex A. Henson of Poplar Bluff, who continued the change of venue case from Dunklin County to an indefinite date.

The jury retired at 3:50 p.m. Thursday, and was unable to reach a verdict.

properly into the river streams.

They—the County Court—like to boast about how much money they have saved. They forget the reason we are paying taxes is for proper maintenance and to make necessary improvements. I have always had the understanding that the County Court was not to operate as a profit-making business.

QUESTION: In your opinion, can the county budget be adjusted to maintain fiscal integrity and still purchase needed equipment for law enforcement and other programs?

ZIEGENHORN: We are buying equipment we really need all the time. We are not behind on equipment, we are not behind on roads, we have built more roads in this district and the north end both—over twice as many roads the first, second and third years than had been built in any year. And we are able to maintain those roads. That's why we are not blacktopping this year, because we don't want to get too far ahead.

We've been warned by state engineers that you can get too many—you have to keep up what you've got for a year or two and catch up. But we have money for everything. We have money to buy equipment, even if revenue sharing were to stop, we'd be alright.

We are one of the few counties in the state—the very few—and I would say as far as the auditor says, we are as well off as any third class county in the state of Missouri. We are a lot better off for the bidding on the bank money. We are better off than anyone in the state of Missouri; we get more interest.

And we are running on money, since 1975 money, and six years ago we had to borrow $100,000 to work it out. Two years ago we did; one year ago we borrowed money; this year I don't think we are going to have to borrow a dime. We are coming up real good, and it is because we are watching ourselves.

NUNNELEE: Yes.

TETLEY: I will answer you by saying that when elected as the First District judge, this will be one of my No. 1 Democratic priorities.

QUESTION: Have you any further statement to make?

ZIEGENHORN: I would appreciate your votes, and I feel I have done a good job. I'll let my record stand as is. Everybody is welcome to look at the tax books. We'll be glad to show anyone; it's wide open. We hide nothing and they're welcome to come and see it.

NUNNELEE: I am happy to participate and to cooperate with The Daily Standard in getting the information to the voters of Scott County District One.

TETLEY: I would like to point out to the voters of the First District that I am running as a true democrat. I'm proud to say that I have been a lifelong Democrat, and my opponent cannot truthfully say that. He likes to play both sides of the fence, whatever it takes to win an election.

I would appreciate your vote and support on Aug. 3, in the Democratic primary. I'd like to point out to the voters of Scott County First District that I will be giving one day, and possibly a half a day extra a week of my working time from my regular job to the voters of Scott County for the associate judge job. I will be there every time the court is open.

This is another thing that I have found out that my opponent does not regularly attend, so I will put aside this time for the voters that vote in the Scott County election. I would appreciate your vote and support on Aug. 3 in the Democratic primary.

Kroger Food Stores leaves Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kroger Food Stores announced Monday that, after doing business here 47 years, they intend to sell 24 supermarkets in the metropolitan area, including Lawrence and Leavenworth, Kan.

"We could not economically provide Kansas City area customers with the type of store and merchandising, particularly in the service specialty departments, to meet Kroger's standards of service," a company spokesman said.

Management time and capital could be used more productively in other areas, a spokesman for the grocery chain said, adding that store wages paid in greater Kansas City were more than most of the other markets served.

However, Jack Wood, acting president of the retail clerks union, blamed Kroger's troubles on bad management, noting that Kroger paid the same salaries as other retailers in the city.

The stores will remain open until final sale arrangements are made. The company said it was talking to several potential buyers.

A shelter for an ambulance supplied to the city by the Stoddard County Ambulance District was discussed, but no decision made.

Alderman Williams was instructed to talk with members of the ambulance board to discuss the idea of using either the old city jail or old firehouse for the vehicle.

Other county towns have provided shelter for the vehicles, including Advance and Bloomfield, which have built additions to present buildings specifically for that purpose.

In Dexter, the ambulance is presently left outside the firehouse in the open.

The council also agreed to buy a new backhoe and have another one owned by the city repaired.

A license renewal application by Ruth Webb for the Flamingo Lounge was routinely approved by the council.

Mrs. Webb until recently had a suit pending against the city in an attempt to allow dancing in taverns, and in the last city election was a mayoral candidate, losing to Conner.

Bloomington, Ind., for supplying street signs, posts and fasteners, was approved.

In June, the city was awarded $4,307 for the placement of traffic and safety signs by the State Department of Highways and Safety with a total cost figured at $4,786.

With the costs of the signs at $3,238.94 and the cost of installation at $910 the total cost would be $4,148.94 with the city to pay $415.

A total of eight bids were received.

However, three of the bids did not include the cost of the posts and fasteners. The other five ranged from the Hall firm's low bid to a high bid of $3,606.35.

Police Sgt. Roy Olive reported to the council that a shotgun carried in the police car was stolen sometime Saturday night. He said the car was parked at the Bank of Chaffee building and locked. However, when he returned, the car had been entered, the shotgun taken and the car relocked.

Olive also reported that after an incident Friday night in which two Scott City men were arrested, he directed other officers on duty to disperse youths congregated on parking lots.

Officers patrolling the town stopped at Keith Moore's service station to ask a group to leave and an employee of Moore's allegedly told the officers they had no authority since they were on private property.

The officer reportedly then informed the employee that he was under arrest for an offense against authority. The employee reportedly broke and ran inside the service station and started to close the door. When the officer placed his foot on the door to keep it from closing, the frame of the door broke and the glass was shattered.

No charges have been placed against the employee, according to Police Chief David Townsend.

He reported that a computerized signal study will be conducted within a week and that the approximate cost of establishing such a system would be $118,000.

The council suggested he study possible means of financing the operation after the signal survey is made.

Rice reported on an inspection of the city's swimming pool concerning possible renovation. He said Frank Santa Cruz, a representative of Midwest Pool & Court Co., of St. Louis, reported the inspection showed that a four-inch sealer would be needed on the bottom of the pool and that new pipes should be laid underneath.

With the raising of the bottom of the pool, it was suggested to recycle the water which goes into the overflow, according to Santa Cruz, who also recommended the installation of exhaust fans in the chloridation room.

Rice said he expected a cost analysis for the project from Santa Cruz in the near future.

Receiving a first reading before the council was an ordinance to regulate the licensing of coin-operated gaming machines, authorizing the operation of 15 machines under a merchants license at a cost of $15 a year and setting a cost of $5 for each machine over that amount.

A motion was made to revise the curfew ordinance by setting the curfew for youths 16 years old and under at 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and midnight on Friday and Saturday nights. Previously, the curfew ordinance included 17-year-olds and was 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and midnight on weekends.

Building permits approved were: Danny Gordon, 207 Easy St., family room and bedroom, $5,250, and a permit for parking a trailer for Eugene Noble, on Frisco Street.
